AN ASSEMBLY FOR RUSSIA

Czar Nicholas Grants an Elective Parliament to His People.

HE WILL GUIDE IT

Makes It Clear the Fundamental of Autocracy Will Be Preserved, Nevertheless.

BODY TO BE CONSULTATIVE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—Russia's national representative assembly, the fruit of decades of stress and striving for reform, which endows the Russian people with the right of being consulted through their chosen representatives in the suggestion, preparation and repeal of legislation, today takes its place among the fundamental institutions of the empire.

In a solemn manifesto Emperor Nicholas announces this morning to his subjects the fruition of his plans to summon the representatives of the people as outlined by him in a rescript issued March 3 last. He fixes the date for the first convocation as mid-January, and in a ukase, addressed to the senate, formally orders that body to register as the imperial will a law project, formulating the nature, powers and procedure of the new governmental organization.

The manifesto, ukase and project are published this morning in special editions of the Official Messenger in St. Petersburg and Moscow. They will be given out for publication at noon to all the newspapers throughout the empire, many of which are preparing to issue extra editions to signalize a momentous historical event, overshadowing in importance the liberation of the serfs in 1861.

Day Happily Chosen.

The date of the occasion has been happily chosen with due regard to the political symbolism so dear to the Russian heart, for on this day is celebrated the great religious feast of the transfiguration of Christ, with the bringing to the church of the first fruits of the new harvest.

The national assembly will be a consultative organization in connection with the council of the empire and not a legislative body. The powers of the emperor remain theoretically absolute. As the emperor is the supreme lawgiver and autocrat, the decisions of the douma have only a recommendatory and not a binding force, though the rejection of any legislative measures by a two-thirds majority of both houses is sufficient to prevent that measure from becoming law.

The representatives of the people will have not only the right to be heard on any legislation proposed by the government, but also can voice their desires on new laws, and will have the right to exert a certain supervision over budgetary expenditures.

The suffrage, though wide, is not universal. It is based on property qualification, the peasantry having a vote through membership in communal organizations. A considerable portion of the residents of the cities, possessing no lands, together with soldiers, civil functionaries, etc., are without suffrage.

Manifesto Is Issued.

The imperial manifesto, which is published simultaneously here and at Moscow, and which will be read in all the churches of the empire, is dated at Peterhof today, and is as follows:

The empire of Russia is formed and strengthened by the indestructible solidarity of the emperor with the people and of the people with the emperor. This concord of emperor and people is the great moral force which has created Russia in the course of centuries by protecting her from all misfortunes and all attacks, and has constituted, up to the present time, a pledge of unity, independence, integrity, material well being and intellectual development.

In our manifesto of February 24, 1905, we called to a close understanding all the faithful sons of the fatherland, in order to protect the organization of the state by establishing, on a firm basis, the domestic life of the empire, and then we devoted

WANTS SECURITIES WORTH $60,984,000

Man Who Promoted the Shipbuilding Combine Demands an Accounting.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—An action was brought in the United States court in this city today by John W. Young, promoter of the former United States Shipbuilding Company, demanding of the Mercantile Trust Company of this city an accounting of securities of the Shipbuilding company amounting to $60,984,000.

Mr. Young alleges in his complaint that the trust company held those securities as trustee subject to his order. He declared he deposited them in June, 1902, in the form of stocks and bonds, and that the trust company was to distribute them in payment for the stock of great shipbuilding plants which were to compose the United States Shipbuilding Company.

All the undistributed securities, Mr. Young alleges, were to be held in trust for him. The distribution was made among the owners of the various properties, he declares, but he has been unable to discover what amount remains subject to his order. He avers also that the stock was wrongfully distributed.

THIEF SUSPENDS HIS TRIP TO SUNNY ITALY

Drayman Hauls Italian's Trunk and Fortune to Depot, Discovers Contents and Vanishes With It.

Michael Grant, an Italian, of 1230 Wylie avenue, yesterday packed his trunk, in which he placed $400 preparatory to starting for his native country last night. He summoned an express man and gave him the trunk to take to the Union station. The negro express driver took the trunk to the railroad station and threw it off the wagon. It is supposed he heard the Italian's money jingle, for he was seen to quickly replace the trunk on his wagon and drive away.

This was the last seen of him or the trunk. The police and detectives were notified. The only description the Italian could give of the express driver was that he was about 5 feet 9 inches in height and that he weighed about 170 pounds. The Italian said he knew him as "Jake," who formerly drove a coal wagon on the hill. The Italian postponed his trip to the old country.

ESCAPE NEW ORLEANS AND VISIT HOMESTEAD

Yellow Fever Scare Caused by 12 Italians Stopping in Borough. House Is Quarantined.

Homestead has a yellow fever scare and the health authorities of the borough have ordered a house quarantined where 12 Italians, who are alleged to have escaped from New Orleans, stopped for a night. It was reported yesterday to the president of the Homestead board of health, Dr. C. C. Huff, that 12 Italians had evaded the quarantine at New Orleans and had made their way to Pittsburgh, where they stopped a while and then went to Homestead, carrying baggage.

They spent Wednesday night in Homestead with Ciro Tomacelli at Ann street and Thirteenth avenue, leaving Thursday morning for New York. Efforts are being made to locate them, and the house where they stopped in Homestead will be fumigated and quarantined for several days.

THEIR NEW PRESIDENT BREAKS SPEED RECORD

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Frederick Irland, official reporter of the house of representatives, was today elected president of the National Association of Shorthand Reporters. Irland today wrote on a blackboard matter selected by his auditors at a rate of 254 words a minute and read it in one minute and 20 seconds. The previous record was 200 words a minute.

JAPAN IS IMPLACABLE

Listens and Explains, But Will Not Abate One Jot of Her Demands.

BLACK PESSIMISM REIGNS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 18.—At midnight, Assistant Secretary Peirce was hurriedly called to the Hotel Wentworth where a message was awaiting him from the president. He immediately wrote a long reply. Later, he was called to the telegraph instrument and for half an hour carried on a conversation by telegraph with the president, who was at the other end of the wire at Oyster Bay.

When the telegraphic conversation with the president ceased and Mr. Peirce left the hotel he was asked:

"Are the Russian envoys going to Oyster Bay?"

"They are not," he replied.

"Is one of them going?"

"You must not ask," said Mr. Peirce.

Wants to See Russians.

It was declared tonight by members of both missions that none of them would go to Oyster Bay between now and Tuesday, but there is reason to believe the president desired to go over the situation with the Russians, who have a means of communication through Baron Kaneko, who is in close touch with the president.

In the event of the expected break in the peace negotiations, the emperor of Japan will renew to the president through Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister at Washington, and through Minister Griscom, the American minister at Tokyo, his deep appreciation of the president's efforts for peace and his disappointment that these efforts have not been crowned with success because of circumstances over which the president, in the very nature of things, could have no control.

M. De Martens has evidently abandoned all expectations of seeing a treaty of peace concluded at this time. This evening he telegraphed his wife saying he hoped to be able to sail for home next week.

M. Plancon has been charged by M. Witte with the task of preparing the final Russian protocol for presentation at Tuesday's meeting.

Black Pessimism Reigns.

Black pessimism reigns at Portsmouth tonight. The prevailing view is that the fate of the peace conference is already sealed, that it has ended in failure and all that now remains is for the plenipotentiaries to meet on Tuesday, to which day they adjourned this afternoon upon completing the seriatim consideration of the Japanese terms, sign the final protocol, go through the conventions, and bid each other farewell. In other words, that the meeting Tuesday will be what diplomacy calls the "bonnes d'adieu."

But there is still room for hope of a compromise. Neither President Roosevelt nor the powers will see the chance of peace shipwrecked without a final effort. That pressure is being exerted, especially at Tokyo, to induce Japan to moderate her terms, is beyond question. Just what is being done or is to be done, has not transpired. King Edward is understood to be now lending a helping hand, and the financiers of the world are known to be exerting all their influence. At Tokyo and St. Petersburg the final issue will be decided.

Japanese Are Implacable.

The Japanese have been implacable throughout the six days' sittings. They have listened and explained, but they have yielded not an iota of the substance of their original demands. M. Witte accepted outright 7 of the 12 Japanese conditions, one in principle, and four, including the main issues, indemnity and Sakhalin, he rejected. The other two, limitation of naval power and the surrender of interned warships, might have been arranged had there been any prospect of agreement upon the two points of which divergence seemed irreconcilable.

In the oral discussion of the terms M. Witte yielded upon two articles, but substantially the result of the 13 sittings of the plenipotentiaries has only been to emphasize the position taken by M. Witte in the written reply he presented last Saturday to the Japanese terms.

And now both sides turn to home for the last word before the cards are thrown face upward upon the table next Tuesday, for the impasse reached today by the plenipotentiaries is recognized to be only a diplomatic fiction. If, in the interim, fresh instructions are received by either side, compromise is yet possible. But the chances are recognized to be slim. So far as the Russian plenipotentiaries are concerned, there never was a chance of their yielding both indemnity and Sakhalin.

Last Chance Is Gone.

The cession of Sakhalin without indemnity was, according to the most inside information, the extreme limit to which M. Witte would ever consent to go, and the emperor has not yet given the word even to concede that. Tonight, suddenly, a new factor has been introduced which, in the opinion of those most competent to judge, lessens materially the chances that he might do so, namely, the issuance of his manifesto granting a popular representative body to his subjects.

The bearings of this "historic document," as M. Witte described it a few days ago, upon the issue are easily comprehensible. It is bound to ameliorate the internal situation in Russia. It is the entering wedge for the realization of the century-old dream of the Russian people.

"It will create enthusiasm at home," said one of the most prominent members of the Russian mission, "because all thinking men realize that it means eventually a great change in the composition of the Russian state. It will be followed by a true parliament, a responsible [illegible]

TELEGRAPHERS END THE STRIKE

The Operators Along the Great Northern Railway Return to Work.

OTHERS VOTING ON SUBJECT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 18.—The strike of the telegraphers on the Great Northern railway system was officially called off tonight, the men on that line having voted by a large majority to return to work. The question of continuing on strike or returning to work is being voted on by the Northern Pacific telegraphers, but not sufficient advices were received to make a definite announcement as to the result. President H. B. Perham of the telegraphers' union said that probably the Northern Pacific operators would vote to continue the strike.

"The men on the Great Northern," said Mr. Perham, "voted almost solidly to return to work. This is explained by the fact that division superintendents offered the men individually advances in wages as great as we had demanded in our schedule submitted to the general officers, and as our end had been achieved there was nothing to gain by continuing the strike."

General Manager F. E. Ward of the Great Northern denied that his company had offered the men anything more than it conceded prior to the strike.

GOVERNOR FRAZIER THROWN IN A SWAMP

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—An automobilist, said to have been Gov. James B. Frazier of Tennessee, suffered a wreck today on a steep hill at a point near W. K. Vanderbilt's "Idle Hour" estate at Oakdale, L. I. The automobilist was buried in a swamp and escaped severe injury because of the soft mud. A rear wheel of the car was torn off and it was otherwise injured. The owner continued his journey by rail.

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 18.—Henry St. George Tucker, dean of the school of law and diplomacy of George Washington university, today was unanimously elected president of the Jamestown Exposition Company.

CITIZENS ACCUSE JUDGE OF GRAFT

Charges Are Filed at Washington Against Territorial Justice of Arizonia.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Charges have been filed in the department of justice by citizens of Globe, Ariz., against Associate Justice Tucker of the territorial court, which, it is said, involve his judicial and personal conduct.

It is alleged that when Justice Tucker went to Arizona, some months ago, to assume his official duties, he let it be known to the citizens of Globe that if he made that city his home a residence would have to be provided for him, and intimated that in case of failure on the part of the people to make this provision for him he would be compelled to take up his residence in another part of his district. It is charged that the residence was provided as requested.

Other charges are made of more or less importance, all of which are under investigation by the department of justice. A report is expected soon.

TO SELL STANDARD OIL AT $5 THE HALF PINT

Product Will Bring High Price at Beach Amateur Circus for a Church Benefit.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DEAL, N. J., Aug. 18.—Standard Oil will go to $5 the half pint at the Deal beach amateur circus Saturday, August 26. Frank O'Day, son of Daniel O'Day, a director in the Standard Oil Company, will furnish a large quantity of half pint bottles filled with the oil, and on the face of each bottle will be a picture of John D. Rockefeller, founder of the company. It is planned to sell these bottles at auction for the benefit of the Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches of Deal. The circus will be given for them.

The auctioneer will be Miss Marie Cahill, who lives at Avon and attends church in Deal. She states that the lowest bid she will honor for any bottle of the oil will be $5.

Frank O'Day is at present in Oil City, Pa., but will come on for the circus, as he is deeply interested in the social affairs of Deal.

CHAIR FOR DAMROSCH.

Orchestra Leader Will Be Given a University Professorship Unless His Engagements Prevent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Walter Damrosch is to fill the newly created chair of music at the University of California unless an unexpected obstacle be interposed to render fruitless negotiations that are now in progress between Mr. Damrosch and the authorities of the university.

A matter of contracts which Mr. Damrosch has made with other enterprises is understood to be all that remains to be settled before his acceptance of the university's offer is announced.

CURSES TRAIN CREW FOR SAVING HIS LIFE

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Frank Wilcoxsy of Pittson was lying across the Lehigh Valley tracks this morning when the engineer of a freight train saw him and stopped the train with the airbrakes so suddenly many couplings and drawheads were broken. Wilcoxsy was then lifted from the track, gave his name, and after swearing at the crew for waking him until his vocabulary was exhausted, threw stones at them. When the train started again he laid down beside the track to resume his sleep.

Montreal Flyer Is Wrecked.

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—The Montreal flyer of the Grand Trunk railway ran into a yard engine in the Windsor yards tonight. Although the engine and baggage car of the passenger train and several freight cars were badly wrecked, no one was killed and very few were hurt.

WIFE AND SON SEE HIM SINK

HE DID NOT WANT TO GO

After reluctantly going to Atlantic City at his wife's request, James L. Davis of 914 Forbes street was drowned while bathing at that place yesterday afternoon in full view of his wife and little son, after being at the seashore but half a day. Davis was 34 years of age and was formerly cashier for the brokerage firm of E. T. C. Sloane & Co., which went out of business about a year ago. Since that time he had been engaged in private detective work.

Several weeks ago Davis, together with his wife and three-year-old son, returned from New York, where they visited the former's father, mother and sister, Lillian, who for several years was cashier in Graham's restaurant in Fourth avenue.

Upon her return Mrs. Davis expressed a desire to visit Atlantic City, but Davis did not care to make the trip. Thursday morning he reluctantly consented to go and secured transportation on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad excursion train which left here at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock the Davis family went down to the beach and Davis donned a bathing suit to take his first plunge, while his wife and son remained on shore. He started out with the evident intention of swimming around the end of the jetty at Indiana avenue, and had rounded the turn and was apparently in shallow water when he appeared to have become seized with cramps and went down.

The wife and son on the beach saw four lifeguards rushing to the assistance of a stricken bather, but even after they had brought the man to shore and had begun the hopeless task of attempting to revive him they did not realize who it was. Two hours' hard work failed to bring back any sign of life, after which the body was turned over to an Atlantic City undertaker, who will send it to Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Davis fainted when she realized the extent of the tragedy and was in a serious condition last night.

ALLEGHENY NURSE ACTS PROMPTLY IN NEW YORK

Miss Mary Hawkins Goes to Rescue of a Woman Who Had Fallen in the Street.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Miss Mary Hawkins, young, well-dressed, pretty, turned to good account skill gained as a nurse in the Allegheny General hospital at Allegheny. Mrs. Lizzie Titus, 45 years old, got off a Broadway car last night before it stopped, tumbled backward, got a probable fracture of the skull and a broken right arm. This happened at Twenty-eighth street.

Miss Hawkins darted into the center of the crowd, had a policeman keep back the mob, hustled her well-dressed escort to a drug store for bandages, and when Dr. Farc arrived in an ambulance the injured woman was ready to be taken to the hospital. She was hurried to Bellevue. Miss Hawkins went home with her silk dress ruined by the blood of the injured woman.

HUSBAND KILLS HIS WIFE IN MISTAKE FOR BURGLAR

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aug. 18.—Harvey Mize, a citizen of Bennett, Tenn., a little mining town in Campbell county near La Follette, Tenn., shot and instantly killed his wife at an early hour this morning, mistaking her for a burglar. Her husband was awakened and seeing the shadow of a person before him, seized a pistol and fired. He then discovered it was his wife, who had gone to get their little daughter a drink of water.

istry, a premier, and Russia will become a constitutional monarchy."

Czar's Reply to Japan.

It is pointed out that the manifesto is timed like what the French call a coup de foudre, and that its significance is too plain to be questioned. It was to have been issued last Saturday, when the Russian reply was presented, but it was held over until the conclusion of the oral consideration of the Japanese terms. Meantime the terms had been published everywhere throughout Russia. The press, even the Liberal press, had replied that Russia could not pay money for the privilege of getting out of Manchuria. The emperor had publicly proclaimed to his subjects July 28 in reply to a telegram of the Oremburg clergy:

"The Russian people can rely upon me. I will never conclude a peace humiliating or unworthy of great Russia."

The manifesto is Emperor Nicholas' answer to the Japanese demand for the payment of a war tribute. The grant of this broad reform is regarded as virtually an appeal to the Russian people for support to resist it.

At Tokyo it is impossible to tell what view will be taken. Peace probably can be even now secured by the sacrifice of the indemnity. Vague intimations tonight come from the Japanese side that "the demand for the cost of the war" might be moderated, but M. Witte's reply is that he will pay liberally for the maintenance of the Russian prisoners in Japan, but "not a copeck for tribute"

Situation Is Grave.

The gravity of the situation from the Japanese point of view is contained in the following authoritative statement given to the Associated Press:

"I cannot say positively because all things are possible, but I fear the meeting Tuesday will be the farewell session of the Washington conference. Japan has done her utmost for peace. Russia now knows Japan's irreducible minimum."

M. Witte himself tonight gave not the slightest encouragement. For publication he said: "We meet Tuesday only to sign the protocol," with the accent on the word "only."

Another bad sign was the change in the personal attitude of the plenipotentiaries toward each other. During the week they have been growing more and more friendly at the luncheon which they take together at the navy yard. This conversation was lively and even gay at times. Today they sat together and ate in silence. All seemed strangely constrained as if realizing that they could only agree to disagree and that the war must go on.

Tonight the situation can be summed up in a single sentence—prompt and heroic action by outside influence alone can save the conference.

ENVOYS ARE GRATIFIED.

Members of Russian Mission Say Czar's Manifesto Will Heal Internal Misgivings.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 18.—All the members of the Russian delegation read with the keenest interest and the greatest satisfaction the text of the emperor's manifesto communicated to them by the Associated Press. M. Witte read it attentively, but would only express his pleasure on finding that it was identical with the original draft shown him for his opinion and suggestions before he left St. Petersburg.

Some of the other members of the Russian mission, however, were not so reticent. They frankly said the redemption of the emperor's promise by the manifesto cannot but produce the best impression at home, that it will unite the nation and strengthen the position of the emperor by convincing the people his efforts are for the welfare of the country and for the glory of Russia.

HONORS PENNSYLVANIA.

Irish Catholic Benevolent Union Selects Five Officers from the Keystone State.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 18.—Daniel J. Lally of Pennsylvania was re-elected national president of the Irish Catholic Benevolent union at its convention here today. The retirement of John A. Davis of Pennsylvania as national treasurer was announced.

Other officers elected were as follows: First vice president, Timothy J. Gathool, Carbondale; second vice president, Miss Margaret Marks, Pittsburgh; national treasurer, John J. Barrett, Providence, R. I.; national secretary, Frank P. McHugh, Philadelphia; editor of Bulletin, James E. Dougherty, Bryn Mawr. It was decided the next meeting should be held at Scranton.

CABLE SHIP IS ASHORE.

Vessel That Was to Lay 2,400 Miles of Wire Is Reported Badly Damaged Off Nova Scotia.

CANSO, N. S., Aug. 18.—The cable steamer Colonia is ashore off this port in a bad position. Attempts to float her have failed. It is thought the steamer has been badly damaged.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The Colonia left London August 5 to lay a cable for the Commercial Cable Company from Canso, N. S., to Waterville, Ireland, 2,400 miles. She arrived off the Nova Scotia port August 16 and made preparations to land the end of the cable. Early today the shore end of the cable was taken ashore and the steamer was to proceed eastward to Waterville, letting out the cable as she steamed to the other side.

DEFENSE SPRINGS GREAT SURPRISE

Mrs. Taggart's Counsel Reads Letter Which the Major Declared Was Lost.

ATTORNEY SCORES WOMAN

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 18.—The plaintiff's side in the Taggart divorce trial closed its case this afternoon after 15 days of testimony, during which the major himself was on the stand six days undergoing a searching examination. Fifty witnesses in all were examined. Of these 25 gave their testimony in lengthy depositions and 25 appeared on the witness stand.

During all his testimony Maj. Taggart has frequently referred to his love for his boy Culver, but has not once mentioned the youngest son, Elmore, except to give the date of his birth. In taking the boys out walking or riding during the trial he has always shown a preference for Culver.

The production of a letter by the defense written by Mrs. Taggart to the plaintiff in reply to his pleading letters, was the occasion of a hurried consultation among the plaintiff's attorneys this morning. Maj. Taggart had stated on the stand that this letter with another had been lost or destroyed, and its introduction as evidence caused a stir.

Judge Eason ruled today against issuing a writ of attachment to obtain possession of the records of Christ hospital. Attorney Wertz, when seen tonight, said: "We don't know what we will do yet. The decision of the judge has knocked a big hole in our testimony."

Want Charges Dismissed.

In the argument which followed the closing of the plaintiff's case, Judge Smyser moved the dismissal of the charges of infidelity against Mrs. Taggart with Capt. Bash, Gen. Miner, Clinton Spencer and Lieut. Fortesque on the grounds that no testimony had been introduced to support the charges. Attorney Sterling in opposing the motion said:

"You see Mrs. Taggart going to the hospital at Cincinnati without even informing her husband. She registers there as an unmarried woman. She tells them she has been associating with a senator and another high official in Washington society. I have found out who the senator was. It was Billy Taggart. He is a rat and one of the lowest scamps in Orrville. You see Mrs. Tegart receiving the attentions of Clinton Spencer six nights in a week and then going off on a trip from Chicago to Cincinnati at the very time when she was liable at any moment to receive a telegram that her husband had been shot down by a Filipino bullet. She never told her husband of this.

"You see Lieut. Fortesque being ordered from the major's house by the major himself, and yet he was posted in coming back to call on Mrs. Taggart. Why, your honor, if you or I were ordered out of a man's house we wouldn't go back there until we could cross perdition."

Judge Eason withheld his decision until tomorrow morning.

Not In a Sick Room.

The re-cross-examination of Maj. Taggart this morning developed the fact that he was not confined at Fort Leavenworth in the ward assigned to sick officers but was locked up on the top floor in a room 15x18 feet, lighted by two windows in the ceiling or roof. The witness was then questioned in regard to methods of holding court-martials for offenses similar to the one with which he was charged. He said that his wife had preferred the charges against him and that she had the influence with Gen. Miner necessary to obtain his release. Smyser then produced a letter written by Maj. Taggart to his wife in which he said: "Send me a suit of pajamas and two books, one a Bible."

"Now, when before this did you read a Bible?" asked Smyser. "At any time during the preceding five years?"

"I can't remember that I did, but I did read it once in a while," was Taggart's answer.

"Why did you write these letters?"

"I was given to understand that I could obtain my release only by writing an abject apology to my wife, and a letter to her for her to show around disapproving the charges against her that were in circulation about the post."

Maj. Taggart Tangled.

Attorney Smyser continued to read parts of all the letters written by Taggart while in prison in the hospital, and in cross-examination several times succeeded in tangling the witness as to his reasons for writing the different passages. Then to the astonishment of the major's attorneys, Smyser read a letter written by Mrs. Taggart from San Francisco to the major at Fort Leavenworth. This was one of the letters Taggart stated on the stand he had lost or destroyed, and his attorneys felt sure it could not be produced in evidence. In this letter in reply to one of his pleadings she said:

"In view of your past conduct toward me; in view of the mental agony I have suffered; in view of the bruises on my body, I can never come back to you, and the more I stop to consider these things the more fixed I become in my determination not to return to you."

Just before the noon recess Attorney Sterling stated to the court that they were unable to secure the records of Christ's hospital, Cincinnati; that Hannah Pierce, the superintendent, had for some reason gone to Canada and that Alice Thatcher, who had been left in charge of the hospital, refused to produce the records in obedience of a writ of duces tecum issued by Judge Eason, and that an effort had been made by some one to spirit the books away from the hospital to prevent the plaintiff's attorney from producing them in court.

Attorney Sterling asked the court to issue a writ of attachment to obtain possession of the books, but the judge stated that at this time he would not issue a writ. After dinner the cross-examination and re-cross-examination in regard to the letters was continued until 3:45, when Attorney Sterling announced that, reserving the right to introduce the records of Christ hospital in case they can be secured, they would rest the plaintiff's case.

INDIAN WOMAN CONVERT KIDNAPED FROM STREET

Sooboonagam Ammal, Well Known in America, Falls a Victim to Abductors.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The office of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church was advised today by Bishop William F. Oldham, missionary bishop for Southern Asia, that on July 18 Sooboonagam Ammal of Madras had been kidnaped.

For 10 years Sooboonagam Ammal has been the most important woman convert from Brahminism to Christianity in Madras. She came from the Pantuli sect, the priestly class and strictest sect of the high caste Hindus. Her father was the first to take a double degree in the University of Madras. Later he became one of the examiners of the university and was high in the government service. Her uncle is the great high priest of the Saivite Brahmins. Coming from a wealthy home, she went through numerous fastings and pilgrimages, culminating her life of devotion to Hinduism by building a heathen temple near Madras. Her conversion to Christianity and baptism were followed by a three days' funeral service performed over her effigy by Brahmin priests, the exercises culminating in a burial ceremony over the ashes of the effigy.

Sooboonagam Ammal was in the United States from April 26, 1900, to October 30, 1901. For a number of years she has been actively engaged in mission work among the low caste village people near Madras, traveling always, however, in company with another woman for the sake of protection. It was while driving in her bullock cart among the villages that she was forcibly seized, hurried into a closed carriage and driven off. In his letter Bishop Oldham says:

"We are doing all that can be done for Sooboonagam Ammal's recovery, but only those who know India can estimate the apparent hopelessness of it all."

DARING ESCAPE ENDS IN DEATH

Allegheny Youth Is Shot While Robbing Store After Night Flight from Morganza.

RAN MILES IN HIS NIGHTSHIRT

Edward Holleran, aged 15 years, was shot and killed early yesterday morning while robbing the store of Thomas Nolder at Riverview, near Monongahela. Nolder did the shooting. Holleran had a companion with him, they and five other boys having escaped from the Morganza reform school on Thursday morning. After getting away the boys separated. Holleran and another boy making their way to Riverview, where they took up quarters in a wooden shed near the railroad. They wore nothing but their nightshirts and kept out of sight. The things they stole from Nolder's store were provisions, which they carried to the shed. Holleran's family lives at 411 Lacock street, Allegheny.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Thomas Nolder was awakened by a noise in the store, above which she and Mr. Nolder slept. She awakened her husband and he, seizing a shot gun, raised the window cautiously. Below he saw two persons carrying groceries away from the store. Nolder shouted to the boys to stop, but they ran. Nolder fired, as he says, to frighten the boys, but young Holleran dropped dead, the entire charge taking effect in his left side. The coroner was notified of the shooting and an investigation revealed that it was young Holleran who had been killed. He wore only the regulation nightshirt used at the reform school. At the inquest the jury exonerated Nolder.

The body of young Holleran will be shipped tomorrow to his home. Two of the other boys have given themselves up, and the officials of the reform school are in hopes of getting the other boys today. Before this last escape Holleran, who had been working in the tailor shop at the reform school, had attempted to escape, but was caught.

The boys who escaped with Holleran were: Edward Hill, aged 16, Arthur street, Pittsburgh; Charles Dunlap, colored, aged 16, Pittsburgh; Benjamin Bates, colored, aged 18, Tunnel street, Pittsburgh; John Chrisler, aged 19, Etna street, Etna; William Wyeth, aged 19, Lawrence avenue, Washington, Pa., and Benjamin Sisley, aged 16, South Race street, Greenville, Pa.

Between 1 and 2 a. m. Thursday the boys tore a heavy screen out of a window of the Morganza dormitory and climbed out onto the roof. From there they slid down a pipe. They had a start of 20 minutes before the escape was discovered.

WEAVER COURTS AN INVESTIGATION

Mayor of Philadelphia Offers to Meet the Organization Half Way.

WRITES A SATIRICAL LETTER

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.

Mayor Weaver, after a conference this morning with ex-Judge James Gay Gordon, sent a letter to Chairman M. C. Work of the councilmanic Lexow committee asking certain information. The letter runs in a satirical vein, and from this viewpoint is as much of a masterpiece as though Gordon himself had penned it.

Half-way the mayor meets the organization in its demand for an investigation of his official acts, as well as those of his subordinates. His honor promises to attend every meeting of the committee, and expresses fear that he may miss one because of his vacation plans. Here is the meat of the letter:

"I view with great satisfaction the action of councils in adopting a resolution with so laudable a purpose as that set forth in the terms of the resolution and so comprehensive in its scope as to include any matter or thing pertaining to the administration of the various departments of the city of Philadelphia. It is my wish, heartily and actively, to co-operate with your committee in carrying out the purpose of its appointment impartially and in such a manner to shed the most searching light upon the administration of the city government."

And in conclusion the mayor says:

"No equal opportunity has occurred since I have been mayor to reach the truth as to the manner in which the people's government has been conducted."

However, the mayor's apprehension is allayed as Chairman Work has gone away for two weeks, and following his example the mayor left tonight for a 10 days' rest in the White mountains. So for two weeks at least the lid will stay down. An evening paper makes the statement that the purpose of the inquiry is to develop facts on which impeachment proceedings may be based. This Republican leaders declare to be absurd. They hold that the mayor, in his haste for reform and political leadership, has made a dormat of the Bullitt act, legal and other traditions. They assert that the inquiry will show that the mayor is actuated by the political ambitions of himself and John Wanamaker, and that he doesn't care a fig for reform. This, they declare, will be established, and in their opinion it will bring to an end Weaver's sudden popularity.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

AN ASSEMBLY FOR RUSSIA IS GRANTED BY THE CZAR

ourselves to the task of co-ordinating elective public institutions with governmental authorities, and of removing the disagreements existing between them, which had reacted disastrously on the normal course of our national life.

Its Powers Outlined.

The autocratic emperors, our ancestors, constantly had that object in view, and the time has come to follow out their good intention and to summon elected representatives from the whole of Russia to take constant and active part in the elaboration of the laws, thereby attaching to the higher state institutions a special consultative body entrusted with the preliminary elaboration and discussion of measures and with the examination of the state budget.

It is for this reason that, while preserving the fundamental principle regarding the autocratic power, we have deemed it well to form a gosudarstvennaia douma (lower house of the assembly), and to approve the regulations for election to this douma, extending the validity of these to the whole territory of the empire, with such exceptions only as may be considered necessary in the case of some regions in which special conditions obtain.

As regards the participation in the labors of the gosudarstvennaia douma of delegates from the grand duchy of Finland on questions concerning the empire in general and the grand duchy in particular, we will take special measures.

At the same time we have ordered the minister of the interior to submit immediately, for our approbation, regulations for elections to the douma, so that deputies from 50 governments and from the military province of the Don may be able to assemble not later than the middle of January, 1906.

Czar's Hand Will Guide.

We reserve to ourselves entirely the care of perfecting the organization of the gosudarstvennaia douma, and when the course of events shall have shown the necessity for changes corresponding completely to the needs of the times and the welfare of the empire we shall not fail to give, at the proper moment, the necessary directions.

We are convinced that those who shall have been elected by the confidence of the whole people, and who will thus be called upon to participate in the legislative work of the government, will show themselves, in the eyes of all Russia, to be worthy of the imperial trust, in the virtue of which they have been invited to co-operate in this great work, and that, in perfect harmony with other institutions and authorities of the state established by us, they will contribute profitably and zealously to our labors for the well-being of our common mother, Russia, and for the strengthening of the unity, the security and the greatness of the empire, as well as for the tranquility and prosperity of the people.

Invokes a Blessing.

In invoking the blessing of the Lord on the labors of the institution established by us, and with the unshakable confidence in the grace of God, and in the infallibility of the great historical destinies reserved by divine providence for our beloved fatherland, we firmly hope, with the help of God Almighty, and with the combined efforts of all her sons, Russia will emerge triumphant from the trying ordeals through which she is now passing, and will be born again in the strength, the greatness and the glory of her history, extending through a thousand years.

Given at Peterhof, this 17th day of August, in the year of grace 1905, and the eleventh year of our reign.

NICHOLAS.

Features of the Assembly.

The main features governing the elections to and the proceedings and powers of the national assembly are as follows:

The douma is established for the preliminary study and discussions of legislative propositions which, according to the fundamental laws, go up through the council of the empire to the supreme autocratic authority.

The term of the douma is to be five years, but it can be dissolved by the emperor. There is to be a general session, but the douma will also meet by sections, the length of the sessions being determined by the emperor. The president and other officials are to be elected by the members. It is provided that "members of the douma shall enjoy freedom in expressing their opinions on matters within the competence of the body, and are not to be responsible to the electors."

Ministers and chiefs of departments cannot be members of the douma, but they can attend its sessions and make explanations or delegate that right to others. The douma can demand explanations from the ministers.

Section 5 deals with the competence of the douma, which is as follows:

Powers of the Douma.

(a) All questions relating to new laws or to the modification, amplification or temporary suspension or repeal of existing laws, and also relating to appointments made on the staff of ministers and the expenditures thereby involved.

(b) Departmental, ministerial and national budgets, also other expenditures not provided therein.

(c) The financial report of the comptroller of the empire.

(d) The appropriation of any portion of the revenues or property of the state.

(e) The construction of railways by the state.

(f) Questions regarding the organization of stock companies involving exceptions from existing legislation.

(g) Matters submitted by imperial decree.

The douma has jurisdiction in the matter of taxation in the provinces where there are no zemstvos; also in the raising of the rate above that fixed by the zemstvos and city councils.

The douma will have initiative in the matter of appeal or modification of old, and the adoption of new laws, but the fundamental laws of administration are not to be touched by it. The ministers and chiefs of departments and the secretary of the empire will submit questions to the douma for discussion.

Many sections are devoted to the method of procedure. The public will not be admitted to the sessions. Representatives of the newspapers will be admitted by the president to open sessions, but not to the closed sessions, the latter being ordered by the general session, or by the president, or at the request of a minister when he has a question to submit involving a national secret. Reports of the meetings may be published by the president.

After passing the douma, bills will go to the council of the empire and then to the emperor. Should the douma and the council of the empire disagree the question at issue will be submitted to a joint commission. Should this bring no conclusion, the question again will be submitted to the council of the empire. Should the emperor call attention to delays in the consideration of any specific question, the council of the empire shall appoint a date on which the douma must reach a conclusion, failing which the council of the empire will act alone.

Legislative bills may be introduced when indorsed by 30 members. Should a minister differ with the douma respecting a bill and the douma in general session pass the bill by a two-thirds majority, the question will be referred to the emperor.

The Electoral System.

Relating to the electoral system the project states that elections are holdable—firstly, in the provinces and territories; secondly, in the principal towns which are named. In Poland, Siberia, the Caucasus, Turkestan and some other provinces, special regulations will govern the elections. The total membership will be 412, of which 28 will be returned by the towns.

The elections in the provinces and territories will be effected by a provincial electoral college chosen, firstly, by the land owners; secondly, by urban electors, and thirdly, by delegates of the peasantry. Women, men under 25 years of age, students, sailors, soldiers, bankrupts and persons convicted of crimes or desertion shall not have the right to vote. Governors and the police cannot vote when they are exercising their functions. Land owners, mine owners, and owners of industrial establishments of a minimum value of $7,000 and clergy owning lands are qualified to vote in the electoral assemblies.

In the urban electoral assemblies, owners of land of a minimum value of $750 and owners of industrial properties of the first category are qualified. The peasantry electoral assembly shall consist of two delegates from each canton, chosen by the peasants belonging to the cantonal and agricultural corporations. In cities, which are named owners of real estate of the value of $1,500, and owners of industries of the first category and persons paying taxes in rent of the tenth category are qualified to participate in the electoral assemblies. The urban and provincial assemblies will vote for deputies to the douma by secret ballot, which also applies to the subsidiary elections.

Federal System of Handling Yellow Jack Is Showing Good Results.

NO MERCY FOR DELINQUENTS

FEVER SITUATION IN NEW ORLEANS

New cases yesterday	62
Total to date	1,382
Deaths	8
Total to date	188
New disease centers	16
Total to date	278
Number of cases under treatment	443

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18.—The yellow fever statistics for the day are not significant. Eleven of the 16 disease centers are above Canal street. Two new cases have appeared in the French asylum at Stann and Derbigny streets, making five in all. That is the only asylum affected up to date.

Of the deaths two were in the charity hospital and two in the emergency hospital. One occurred in Algiers.

News from outside the city continues unfavorable. Dr. Brady, the medical inspector of the state board, who is also health officer of Jefferson parish, spent most of the day in his own parish on a still hunt and found several cases, one in Hanson City, two in Shrewsbury, five miles from New Orleans, and one in McDonoughville, across the river from New Orleans; also five cases in the Pecan Grove plantation, in St. Charles parish.

Patterson reports six new cases and no deaths. In Alexandria one patient died today.

Dr. J. A. Devron left for Thibodeaux today for the nest of infection at the mouth of Bayou Lafourche. There were no new cases at Mississippi City.

An analysis of the report for the preceding 24 hours shows that 32 of the new cases of yellow fever appeared in the heart of the originally infected quarters. The explanation given by the inspectors is that after their own houses are disinfected and the mosquitoes killed, some of the Italians go around and pay visits to sick friends, become infected themselves and carry the fever home with them.

The situation above Canal street continues to improve. In that section obedience to the federal regulations is more general and the results are plain. While the report showed five new cases only three new squares are infected.

Among the new squares infected is that in which the supreme and civil district courts and the St. Louis cathedral are situated. Extraordinary precautions will be taken to prevent any further infection of the square, whither many lawyers go daily on business and where many Catholics attend service.

The unexpected decline in the death rate is giving such a feeling of satisfaction here that people are beginning to believe that the possibilities of the visitations have been overdrawn. The doctors however, say that the low death rate is due to the fact that practically the whole community has been educated up to the necessity of calling a doctor the moment temperature develops.

So successful have the authorities been in removing foci in the upper section of the city that the belief is general that if the first cases here had been promptly reported they could have been handled, the infection stamped out and New Orleans spared a quarantine of long duration.

Bon Ami and Arduine plantation in Terrabonne parish are both practically free of fever now, but a close watch is to be kept for secondary infection. At Patterson, while the total cases have reached 55, the death rate has been so insignificant that the early alarm has passed. Alexandria has still only one case.

The board of health at Lake Charles finds itself helpless to make headway against the state of public opinion in the town. The health authorities desire to put on a moderate quarantine, but the municipal officials and the citizens generally have ranged themselves on the other side and all efforts to open the doors to freight from New Orleans have been unsuccessful thus far.

In order to force general compliance with the mosquito ordinance Inspector Whitaker has notified his officers to put all violators in cells. The inspector is vested with large powers and it is believed that this order will have a wide-spread effect. A number of Italians in comfortable circumstances have already been lodged in jail under the order.

REPUBLICAN DAY IS CELEBRATED

Old Insurgent Faction Declined to Comply With Larry Eyre's Postponement.

SPEECHES ABOUT WEAVER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WEST CHESTER, PA., Aug. 18.—The 50th anniversary of the Republican organization in Chester county was celebrated today. It has an humorous phase. Some time ago T. Larry Eyre and other leaders of the stalwart Republican organization decided that the event should be celebrated. Later when trouble came and it was found necessary to withdraw the county ticket, Eyre announced a postponement of the event.

But the old insurgent faction, which now styles itself as the only real Republican organization, wouldn't postpone and today it celebrated as per the Eyre schedule, but the stalwarts did not participate. They expect to celebrate later and have invited Vice President Fairbanks to make the principal address.

From 10 this morning until 4 o'clock this afternoon, the jubilee lasted with a short intermission. It was one screaming roast of the Republican state organization, and that of Philadelphia, interspersed with eulogies of Mayor Weaver. Warren C. Speakman presided and the principal addresses were made by ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Wayne MacVeagh and H. C. Niles of York. MacVeagh said in part:

Miracles Still in Action.

"They who tell you the age of miracles is past mislead you. In the twinkling of an eye you have converted Mr. Larry Eyre from a follower and eulogist of Israel Durham into a follower and eulogist of John Weaver. In the twinkling of an eye you have converted Dr. Snyder from a follower and eulogist of Senator Boise Penrose into an earnest advocate for the immediate repeal of the ripper bill Senator Penrose had passed. In the twinkling of an eye you have converted Oscar Thomson, the ally and eulogist of the men who were responsible for stuffing every ballot box in Philadelphia, into an earnest advocate of immaculate purity of election. In an hour you persuaded Morgan Ruth that he ought to go and attend to the business for which he is paid and allow you to attend to your elections.

"Offers to you? Why, they are nothing compared to the offers they have been making for three months to John Weaver. There would have been no offers to you if he had failed you. First they said: 'Don't you want to be a judge?' 'Yes, but not from you.' 'Don't you want to be governor?' 'Yes, but not from you.' 'What do you want?' 'Nothing under God's heavens from you, but to see you quit your dirty work.' And so it went on until a week ago. They never abandoned the idea of seducing him until a week ago, and then doubtlessly said: 'We can't fool him, but we can fool the Republicans of every county in the state, and if we can hold the organizations in the counties of the state, we can wipe John Weaver off the face of the earth,' and so they can, and so they began their attack upon him yesterday."

Political Lines Drawn.

Charles Emory Smith said in part:

"But in the greatest of all the Republican states, in our own Pennsylvania, to our sorrow be it said, the black lines must be largely drawn. Here an arbitrary and ruthless domination has sought to change the watchwords into 'padlocked speech, muzzled press, subsidized soil and manacled men,' we have seen our chief city for a long period of years under the sway of the most autocratic and audacious ring which existed anywhere in the land. We have seen our whole commonwealth, largely through the control of that city, ruled by a sordid power which poisoned its legislation and its whole political life. And to the true Republicans of the state, the true followers of Lincoln and Roosevelt comes the nobility of redeeming it from this thralldom, as we mean to do.

"These glorious uprisings and triumphs in Philadelphia and in Chester are worthy examples for the state. They blaze the way for a movement as broad as the commonwealth. We should seek to restore the Republican party to its primitive purity and freedom. We are the true Republicans. We know that we are right. We know that we have the sympathy and approval of the Republicans of the country. We are the inheritors of the principles and purposes of the Republican fathers. We are laboring to put the Republican party of Pennsylvania on the same level with the Republican party of the nation. When President Roosevelt extends his hand to John Weaver and bids him godspeed in his noble work of securing honest government and clean politics, we are sure that the best Republicanism and the best citizenship beckon us onward. We fight for a redeemed and disenthralled party; we follow the principles of Lincoln and the teachings of Roosevelt; we carry aloft the Lincoln-Roosevelt banner, as Constantine saw the sign of the cross in the sky, and by that sign we conquer."

Attorney Niles reiterated his recent utterances at the York county convention, where he failed to have the delegates denounce the state organization.

MAKES REPORT PUBLIC.

Ohio Railroad Commissioner Does Not Fix Responsibility for Wreck at Mentor on June 21.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—State Railroad Commissioner Morris who investigated the wreck of the Twentieth Century limited on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad at Mentor on June 21, in which 19 lives were lost, tonight made public his report, which finds the wreck was caused by an open switch which had been locked open. He does not attempt to fix the responsibility for the open switch.

The commissioner recommends facing point switches on railroads having two or more main tracks be eliminated and that semaphore signals be erected on single track railroads in connection with facing point switches. He also recommends the leads to side tracks be lengthened, lessening the degree of curvature so as to reduce to a minimum the danger of derailment of trains entering the track at high speed.

STILL AT MERCY OF CORPORATION

City Will Again Probably Get Only One Bid for Lighting Contract.

MUNICIPAL PLANT ADVOCATED

The Allegheny County Light Company, from all indications, will again have a monopoly of bidding for the city light contract for next year. Assistant Controller Morrow said yesterday the contract begins January 1, but bids would be received and the award made in December. The contract is worth $400,000 a year.

A franchise was granted last year to the Duquesne Light Company, representatives appearing before councils and promising immediate competition for the city light contract at a rate of half what the city is paying the Allegheny County Light Company, which receives $96 for each electric arc lamp. The company, however, refused to allow any price to be stipulated in the ordinance, and the franchise was put through councils by an agreement with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, whereby the Pittsburgh Railways Company secured some downtown loops and the Morningside trolley grant, and the Robert C. Hall syndicate got its light franchise in the name of the Duquesne Light Company. The city received nothing for any of these franchises.

Officials Refuse to Talk.

It was said it was then too late for the Duquesne company to bid for the city contract of 1906, but promises were made that the company would bid and slash prices for the 1906 contract.

A singular feature, in view of avowals made at that time, is the fact that the officers of the Duquesne company refuse now to state whether the company will bid for the city contract or not. An effort was made yesterday to secure from Robert C. Hall, the president and chief promoter, a statement as to the intentions of the Duquesne Light Company. He declined to answer the question if the Duquesne company would compete with the Allegheny County Light Company for the city contract. J. G. Splane, another official of the company, who appeared before councils and made the statement that the company would cut the prices of electric light to the city one-half, also refused to answer any questions on the subject.

The contract for next year will be let in December, according to Assistant Controller Morrow, and there are only three or four months in which the new company can have a plant built and in operation. There are no signs of this, however. It was stated several months ago that the Duquesne company was laying extra cables to carry power for lighting purposes in the conduits of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, also a Hall concern, and in this connection it was stated that a site would soon would be picked for a power house. According to city officials there is no evidence that the Duquesne company has any intention of bidding against the Allegheny County Light Company.

Municipal Plant Advocated.

Director Bigelow, who last year advocated giving a four-year contract to the Allegheny County Light Company, opposed the granting of a franchise to the Hall syndicate, and only aided in the passage of the ordinance when an agreement had been made by both sides to put through the trolley ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Duquesne light bill.

"At that time," said Councilman Helmold yesterday, "Director Bigelow declared the Duquesne Light Company would never build a plant and would never compete for the city contract.

"Director James W. Clark is connected with the Duquesne Light Company and the Twentieth ward councilmen did all he could to assist in putting the company's ordinance through councils, even to the extent of the agreement to support the measures of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

"Recently Mr. Roenigk and myself have been discussing the matter, and Mr. Roenigk is in favor of the city building a light plant of its own, if the Duquesne Light Company fails to go ahead and bid for the city contract. It seems, however, that the company does not intend to be a bidder."

Mayor Guys said yesterday that he knew of no intention on the part of the Duquesne Light Company to bid for the city contract.

NO USE FOR NEGROES.

Brakeman From Sunny South Yells "Nigger, Nigger, Never Die," and Is Under Arrest.

John Parham and Patrick Lacy are known to be the two blackest policemen on the Pittsburgh force. Both report at the Oakland police station and have adjoining beats. Parham patrolling a district along Junction Hollow and Lacey covering a beat along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad as far as the hollow. E. J. Ruppert of Darsey street is a flagman on the rear end of a Junction railroad shifting engine which passes along the beats of both policemen each day. Ruppert, who is a southerner and has no use for negroes, is in the habit, as he passes the two policemen each day, of standing on the top of a box car and yelling in a loud voice:

"Nigger, nigger, never die; black face and shiney eye!"

On account of the speed of the train Ruppert could never be interfered with in his amusement. Yesterday Policeman Parham went before Magistrate Negley and swore out a warrant for Ruppert's arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. Ruppert was taken into custody by Special Policemen W. D. Marsh and James Jackson, as his train stopped at the Thirty-third street yards, and was locked up in the Oakland police station for a hearing this morning.

BABE BURIED; MOTHER ILL.

McKeesport Woman Does Not Know of the Death of Her Child.

Not knowing that her 2-months-old child is dead and buried, Mrs. I. S. Blattner, wife of a prominent business man, is battling for her life at Mt. Clemens, Michigan. The father did not learn of the child's death until he reached his wife's bedside yesterday, where he met Miss Rosy Janavitz, a sister of Mrs. Blattner, who had taken charge of the funeral.

Mr. Blattner left his wife at Mt. Clemens a few days ago for a business trip to New York. While he was there his child died and at the same time Mrs. Blattner became critically ill. A telegram from Mt. Clemens yesterday stated that although in a serious condition Mrs. Blattner was slightly improved. She will not be informed of her child's death until she is past danger.

Not a Model Husband.

Alderman Oyer last night committed Paul Litch to jail, charged with a misdemeanor by his wife, Mrs. Litch asserts that her husband compels her to live in a disorderly house in Robinson street, Allegheny, and has been in the habit of making regular visits to collect money from her.

Breaks Tonnage Record.

Record tonnage was turned out yesterday at the 32- and 40-inch mills of the Homestead steel works. The night turn produced 565 tons and the day turn came on and produced 755 tons, a total of 1,370 tons. The highest previous tonnage was 1,250 tons, which was until yesterday the world's record in steel production in such mills.

NOTHING BUT MONEY IS CAUSE OF BOYS' ARREST

Their Pockets Bulging With Coin, and Retinue of Admirers Following, They Do Luna Park to a Turn

Two boys, coatless and hatless, spent money like water all yesterday afternoon at Luna park, and treated a retinue of their followers to all the features of the big park. They still had $5 in small change when arrested late in the evening and taken to Oakland police station as suspicious persons.

The boys are Barney Goldstein, aged 13, of 146 Elm street, and Sydney Klein, aged 13, of 821 Fifth avenue. Their entry to the park was made as soon as the gates opened at noon and for eight hours life was one unalloyed round of pleasure. They shot the chutes until the rush of the cold air had almost frozen their exteriors; then they froze up their interiors with quarts and quarts of ice cream—not selfishly, but with the co-operation of all the other boys they could find. They winked for turn after turn at the Geisha girls and saw the jiu-jitsu acts done repeatedly. They visited Wonderland so often that they ceased to wonder. They kept the circle swings going at full gait, and still their pockets fairly bulged with small coin. Barney and Sydney kept open house at Luna park.

The noise made by the army of kids attracted more attention than any feature in the park. The unhesitating manner of the hosts in putting up the price for all who would come caused first wonder, and then suspicion, about 8 o'clock, ending the finest time of their lives, they came to grief. Officer Springer Lenhart took them in charge and sent them down to the Oakland police station.

Both boys broke down and cried vigorously, but made no answers to the questions put to them except to say they had "made all kinds of money carrying a man's satchel."

ANOTHER MURDER ADDED TO M'KEESPORT LIST

Frank Marsh Dies from a Fractured Skull Sustained in Fight on June 3.

Frank Marsh, aged 38, died at the McKeesport hospital yesterday from a fractured skull received in a fight June 3. He engaged in a quarrel near the McKeesport tube works and was knocked down, falling on his head. Although the injury pained him considerably he paid no attention to it.

On June 20 he became unconscious and was taken to the hospital where he lingered until yesterday afternoon, when he died. He refused to name his assailant, although he was pressed to do so by physicians, clergymen and the police. Marsh was single and boarded in Second avenue, McKeesport.

The county detectives are still trying to clear the mystery connected with the death of Grant Scott, a negro, who was found dead with a bullet wound under his left arm at his home at Leetsdale early Thursday morning. Scott's wife and daughter are still in jail awaiting the result of the coroner's inquest. Both women are reticent concerning the affair.

The city detectives are trying to find Daniel Troy, who shot and killed Louis Rosenbeck at Nine Mile Run last Sunday night. Circulars containing Troy's photograph have been sent to the police in all the large cities in the country. Troy is a horseman and it is expected that he will be found on some of the large race tracks.

The coroner and the local police are of the opinion that Private Michael Ryan, who was found dead at the Butler street arsenal Wednesday night, died from alcoholism. The coroner's physician held a post-mortem yesterday and found no symptoms of chloral poisoning. It is known Ryan was drinking heavily for five days before he died. On that day he passed a physical examination for reenlistment.

Michael Ganard, aged 50, an employe of the highways and sewers department of Allegheny was found dead yesterday morning in a manhole near the foot of School street. Death was due to asphyxiation. Ganard and Cooney Hoffman were sent to the Lacock street sewer Thursday morning by Street Commissioner Martin Mitchell. At noon Ganard told Hoffman that the services of two men were no longer needed and Hoofman returned to city hall. Shortly after 3 o'clock Ganard was seen going into the School street manhole. F. Watts, a Pittsburgh & Western brakeman, of No. 821 Rebecca street, discovered the open manhole while going to work yesterday morning. A dinner pail and a hat were lying near the manhole. Watts reported this to city hall and some men were sent down. Ganard's body was found about 20 feet away from the shaft. He had been overcome by gas. Andrew Gillespie of Itasco street was overcome by gas while attemptnig to recover Ganard's body and was rescued with the aid of a rope. Ganard was single and lived at No. 1020 Decatur street. His body was taken to the morgue.

The inquest was held yesterday into the death of John Wildes, aged 12, who died at Passavant hospital August 16 from injuries received in the Peacock public bathhouse, Center avenue, August 16. The boy, it was alleged, fell against a broken glass partition and cut an artery in his side. The coroner censured the keeper of the bathhouse for not having repaired the broken partition.

BRIDEGROOM IS DYING.

Girl Is on the Ocean, Hoping to Meet Him in New York.

While his promised wife, Rosie Wargo, is on the ocean coming to this country to be married, her intended husband Julius Dietrich, aged 26, of McKeesport, is lying at the point of death at the McKeesport hospital as the result of injuries sustained by falling from the fourth story of the Charles Reuben block at Fifth avenue and Walnut street on Thursday. His skull is fractured.

Dietrich, who is one of the better class of foreigners, had saved enough money to send for his sweetheart. He had a letter in his pocket from her, stating that she would leave at once. The girl will be without friends upon her arrival, as her intended husband was to meet her in New York. He was to have left next week.

ALSO UP CROSS CREEK.

Second Company Secures Charter for Washington County Railroad.

A charter was granted yesterday for the Pittsburgh & Cross Creek railroad to extend from Pryor, on the Wabash, to Burgettstown, on the Panhandle, in Washington county.

The road is to run up the north branch of Cross Creek, precisely as the Point Pleasant railroad, recently chartered, proposes to do. The directors are N. T. Sanford, the coal man; J. W. Patterson and F. P. Patterson, formerly of the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal railroad; D. Huston, Pittsburgh; W. Craig Lee, Burgettstown, and B. U. Young and S. A. Wortman, New Castle.

Brings Suit for Perjury.

John Cossan of Cass avenue, Allegheny, was sent to jail last night by Alderman Humphrey Lynch on a charge of perjury preferred by Stephen Oplitz. The latter was sued recently by Cossan for a board bill and alleged that Oplitz owed him $20. It came out at the hearing that the amount was only $10, and Cossan got judgment for this amount. The charge of perjury grew out of the first suit.

Bad Fire in Wilkinsburg.

At 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fire started on the roof of the two-story frame dwelling occupied by H. Gibbard at 710 Coal street, Wilkinsburg, and in less than an hour the entire building was gutted. While turning in an alarm somebody broke the firebox. An alarm from another box, however, brought the engines to the scene. The loss to the building and contents is estimated at $2,300.

Driver Is Dragged a Square.

Andrew Hodge, a Homestead driver, was driving his wagon in Dickson street yesterday, when the horse took fright, broke from the shafts and ran away. Hodge had the reins around his hand and was dragged a square before they broke. Two ribs were broken, and he was seriously cut and bruised.

Charges Highway Robbery.

John Meehan, aged 26, of 1201 Ridge avenue, Allegheny, was arrested yesterday in Rebecca street by Policeman Coombs charged with highway robbery. Information was made against him by Joseph Stonkes of 1 Gas House row, Allegheny, who alleges that on the night of August 17 the prisoner held him up and robbed him of $9.

POLISH PRELATE COMES TO VISIT COMPATRIOTS

Catholic Poles Will Welcome Archbishop Symon, Who Will Report to Pope Conditions in America.

Archbishop Symon, the Polish prelate, who has been sent by the pope to examine into the condition of Polish Catholics in America, will arrive in Pittsburgh this evening. Archbishop Symon was for years bishop of Plock, Russian Poland, but having incurred the displeasure of the autocratic government, was exiled to the interior of Russia.

Later he was pardoned, on condition that he leave his native country. The czar's government was displeased with Archbishop Symon because he resisted the efforts of the government's emissaries forcibly to make members of the Russian church out of the Polish Catholics. Since his banishment from Poland the archbishop has lived in Rome.

He will arrive at the Union station at 7 p. m., and will be received there by clergymen of the Pittsburgh diocese and uniformed Polish societies. He will then be driven to the residence of Bishop Canevin, and thence he will return to the Union station, from where he will be driven to St. Stanislaus church, in Twenty-first street. A short service will be held and Father Gorzynski of McKeesport will deliver the address of welcome.

FAIRMAN HAS QUALIFIED.

Will Be a Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Recorder.

Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the Republican county committee, Wednesday received from John Fairman his qualification as a candidate for the Republican nomination for county recorder. The paper was confirmed in a letter from Mr. Fairman, who is in Atlantic City.

Ex-Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner yesterday called on Francis J. Torrance, who is chairman of the Allegheny city committee, and told Mr. Torrance that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Allegheny in 1906. Mr. Muehlbronner declined to discuss his candidacy yesterday, but said he would issue a formal statement today.

Defendant Is Severely Beaten.

Alderman Lynch of Allegheny last night sent John Constice of Petrel street to jail on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mike Duben. The two fought on Thursday night and Constice appeared last night supported by several friends. The man was scarcely able to walk so severe was the punishment he got, yet he admitted striking the prosecutor. Alderman Lynch remarked that the defendant appeared to have got all the worst of the battle, and told Dubea that he deserved to go to jail, too.

CORONER PASSES ON THOMPSON CASE

Pittsburgher's Brother Caused His Own Death by Poisoning at Philadelphia.

SON GIVES HIS TESTIMONY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.

No additional information as to what caused Joseph A. Thompson to hide his identity under an alias was disclosed at the coroner's inquest today. That the trouble was entirely within the family, as stated in Pittsburgh dispatches, is the belief generally entertained.

Evidence by only two witnesses was given at the inquest, Joseph Thompson, son of the deceased, and the park guard who reported the finding of the body. The verdict was suicide by poisoning.

Joseph Thompson testified his father had been acting strangely for several months, but his family attributed his peculiarities to despondency because he could not get work. He said his father had been drinking and he thought he was not in his right mind when he wrote the letters which he left for the newspapers and his wife.

To a reporter young Thompson said he always supposed his father's name was Thomas until about two weeks ago. At that time something occurred that made him think his father was living under an assumed name. What the circumstance was he refused to say.

W. R. Thompson, brother of his father, who was spoken of in the letters, the son said, had shown real sympathy and kindness since he was informed of his brother's distress. Several telegrams have been received by the widow.

In them W. R. Thompson offers to defray all the expenses of the funeral and to have the body interred either in the family lot in a Pittsburgh cemetery, or in a lot to be purchased in this city. He has also offered to do anything he can to aid the family, if they are in need of assistance. "He has been most kind, and we can only speak in high terms of him," the young man said.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

FINISH THEIR BUSINESS.

Pattern Makers, Who Have Been in Session Here, Start for Home.

The Patternmakers' League of North America, which has been in session at the St. Charles hotel this week, adjourned late yesterday afternoon. About 75 delegates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico, representing about 12,000 workmen, attended the convention. Besides making several amendments to the organization's constitution, the convention decided to increase the assessment of members from 25 to 50 cents a week.

The general sentiment of the delegates for the next place to hold the convention, which has been changed from two to three years, was in favor of Toronto, Canada. The place of meeting and the election of officers will be decided later by a referendum vote of the whole membership. Many of the delegates, after taking a look at points of interest in Pittsburgh and vicinity, started for home last night.

Will Strike at Sweat Shops.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the United Labor league to be held Sunday, August 27, a resolution is to be presented to urge the elimination of the sweatshops which have been publicly denounced by Deputy Factory Inspector O'Donnell. It is said the labor league will make a concentrated effort to aid the city in getting rid of these places.

Want a New Station.

Petitions are being circulated in Oakmont for a new Allegheny Valley railroad station and for lower rates of transportation. Other petitions are being circulated for better street car service.

SLAYS BIG GRIZZLY BEAR TO GET HER LOVE TOKEN

Philadelphia Man Does the Prince Charming Act to Find Rare Engagement Jewelry for His Sweetheart.

A bear's claw for an engagement bracelet! This is the kind of jewelry that Albert M. Carey's fiancee will wear. The bridegroom-elect spent three weeks in the fastness of the Rocky mountains looking for his strange love token, and walked into the lobby of the Hotel Henry last night with the black toes of Mr. Bruin peeping menacingly from his coat pocket.

The conversation in the busy hall turned instantly from the stock quotations, the Taggart case and the peace conference to the primative things of the wild and woolly west. Mr. Carey looked the part of a simon pure tenderfoot. He sells steamship tickets down on the United Fruit Company's wharf in Philadelphia. On the Fourth of July he popped the question and got a strange answer. It was neither yes nor no. The girl used to live in British Columbia, and she told him if he would go out west, kill a grizzly bear and bring back its pelt she would say yes.

It was a telling blow on the lover. He is used to catching snappers, bluefish and others of the finny tribe in the Delaware, and occasionally takes a shot at a squirrel, a partridge or a rabbit, but the proposition of encountering a grizzly on his native heath and conquering the beast was something he was not looking for.

Nevertheless there is a good large spark of the romantic in Mr. Carey, and the girl's proposition appealed to him as something very much like that he had read in the storybooks in his boyhood days. Slay wild beasts? Certainly he would. He borrowed a Winchester of heavy caliber and started for the Rockies. It was lucky that his vacation happened about the same time, because he spent two weeks in camp before he saw a sign of a bear.

When he met his dragon he kept his Philadelphia prize in mind and fired with unerring aim. He declares that he brought him down with a single shot. Anyhow, he brings back the pelt, head and all, and as a pocket trophy of his prowess with the borrowed rifle, he shows the claws to his friends who inquire about his luck.

Bruin's toe nails are long and these will be polished and placed on a little gold chain by a Philadelphia jeweler and formed into an exquisite bracelet. Mr. Carey will go back home with his tokens today, and the jeweler will immediately get to work.

FACES A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Hugh Watt, a Financier and Former Member of Parliament, Desired to Have His Wife Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—A great sensation has been created by the arrest of Hugh Watt, a financier and formerly a member of parliament for the Camlachie division of Glasgow, on the charge of attempting to procure a private detective to assist in the murder of his former wife.

Detective Marshall testified in a police court today that Watt offered him $5,000 if he would induce the woman to come to Watt's flat, where he proposed to kill her by the administration of chloroform and then to remove the smell of the chloroform with peppermint. Watt was remanded for trial on bail of $5,000.

Boy May Lose an Arm.

Harry Rosenthal, aged 13, of 1341 Penn avenue, was run over last night by a horse owned by Frank Hardine of 1207 Spring alley, and had his left arm broken in two places and so badly crushed that it may be necessary to amputate it. The horse, which is said to be blind, was being driven to the stable by Louis, a son of Mr. Hardine, and he failed to see the boy, who ran in front of the horse, until it was too late.

Looks Bad for the Peddler.

After paying a peddler for a small purchase Mrs. John Meyer of 805 Talbot avenue, Braddock, laid down her pocketbook to answer a call at the front door. When she returned the pocketbook and a gold watch were missing. There was about $18 in the pocketbook.

Some Organs Free

The immediate response that met our remarkable offer on square pianos last Saturday occasions the present offer on organs. We have divided all the used parlor organs into two lots. Select any organ in the first lot, pay us $15.00, keep it three years and bring it back and we'll credit the full amount you've paid on the price of a new organ or upright piano.

The same offer is made on the second lot of organs, which includes some very fancy oak and walnut parlor styles of Estey, Needham, Story & Clark, A. B. Chase and other makes. The only difference is that you pay us $25.00 for any one of the second lot.

Do you know of a better way to get the use of a good organ FREE?

USED UPRIGHTS

There are nine upright pianos in our exchange rooms, which we offer at less than $150 net each. A few at higher prices. All are in good condition. Don't forget them today if you're looking for a good piano, with economy as your watch word. Easy monthly payments.

Saturday, August 19, 1905.

There is little more to say of the shooting of the boy burglar near Finleyville than that the shooting was justified. Every man has the legal and moral right to defend his person and property. It is a pity that so young a lad has met death in such a manner, but the fault lies beyond the incident under discussion. "The wages of sin is death," and the truth should be impressed on every youthful mind.

Some lively politics are promised in Allegheny, with a chance of spreading throughout the county. This will afford an excellent test of the new Republican primary system and the direct vote. The strongest candidates will inevitably win the nominations and with solid party support will win in the general election. This is as it should be. It will prove the redemption of local politics from the elements that nominate by a committee of one and a convention of privately appointed delegates.

It is said the feature of the senate railroad rate measure will be a plan to advance interstate commerce cases in the courts. That promises some relief to injured interests, but the question naturally arises why these cases should operate to delay others. A better remedy would be to eliminate from court practice some of the notorious dilatory procedures, so the general list would be advanced in conclusion if not on the calendar. If this is the feature of the senate bill it will hardly satisfy the president or the public.

In Allegheny the "yellow book" has come into collision with union labor rules. Council No. 14, International electrical workers, construes a 2 per cent assessment on salaries to be a reduction of the contract wages. It has filed a protest against any assessment on the members of the union employed in the light plant. Here is a case where union labor is unquestionably in the right and its demand is just. The salaries fixed by councils are for the public service and any forced collection from them is a violation of law and of the public sense of decency.

An investigation of the Schuylkill arsenal has brought to light a bad condition of affairs. It is the mismanagement and petty graft that inevitably fastens on public work when it is allowed to run along without close inspection. It is likely to be found in every department that is not continually probed. While the Keep commission is investigating the methods of transacting routine business in the departments, President Roosevelt might find it worth while to inquire whether a system of inspection, such as is applied to national banks, with a continual shifting of inspectors, might not be profitably applied to all parts of the government service. Government works are notoriously slow and expensive.

Czar Nicholas has proclaimed the national assembly, the "gosudarstvennaia douma," it is called. The proclamation is published today and will be read in all of the churches on Sunday. The assembly will consist of about 500 members chosen from various classes of citizens by a limited suffrage, also classified. Jewish merchants and shop owners are eligible to election. It is to be a "consultive" assembly and does not restrict the power of the autocracy. Its extreme force is in the provision that it may negative a ministerial measure by a two-thirds vote, though the czar may, if he will, adopt the measure despite that vote. It marks progress in Russia, but is far behind the government processes of any other civilized nation, Japan and China included.

In discussing the organization of the Pennsylvania state police, the New York Tribune falls into the error of attributing the movement to the objections of labor organizations to the coal and iron police. This is wholly incorrect. The state police system grew from the desire for better protection of rural communities and the better enforcement of law. The coal and iron police law has not been repealed. It is expected the state police may be utilized for maintaining order in some cases where coal and iron police have heretofore been employed, but that is by no means the primary object. The Gazette was a leader in the agitation for state police, and based its appeal on the changed conditions which cannot be met by the old constabulary. The experiment will be of great interest to other states having similar conditions in population.

Another Investigation.

Philadelphia council has adopted a resolution and appointed a committee to investigate the acts of Mayor Weaver. This adds another complication to an already very complicated situation. Mayor Weaver announces his willingness to be investigated with a promptness that is calculated to impress the crowd. The public will welcome this investigation in the same spirit it has applauded the investigations started by Mayor Weaver to unearth rottenness in municipal contracts and franchises, feeling sure that out of all the inquiries the truth will come at last, together with some measure of reform.

It seems entirely probable there has been some serious misdoing in Philadelphia. It is not likely, however, that conditions are as bad as they have been made to appear. The Gazette is in full sympathy with the movement to rout out graft, in as far as its purpose is to secure genuine reform. It has misgivings, however, that it is all sincere. There has been so much political clap trap in connection with the mayor's "revolt" and so evident a purpose on the part of several elements to turn it into an attack on the Republican party in Pennsylvania to warrant extreme doubt. The refusal of the mayor to accept the invitation to reorganize the city Republican organization savors of a hard and fast agreement to promote the ambitions of former Judge Gordon and his backers at all hazards. The Gazette is willing to wait for the evidence before condemning anybody, but it hopes every rascal will get what he deserves.

Meantime there is no reason why Pennsylvania Republicans should permit themselves to be carried away by the carefully organized campaign of vituperation and misrepresentation that has been going on. Republican majorities have not been made by illegal voting, either in Philadelphia or in other counties of the state. Pennsylvania is reliably Republican at all times. The Republican party needs no fraud to sustain it and is ready to repudiate any fraud practiced in its behalf. The voting population is always larger than the total vote and it is overwhelmingly Republican in almost every county of the state. This is a good year to prove it in the face of the hysterical rumpus of both the open air and underground Democrats.

Dates and Majorities.

The same paper that said on Thursday that William H. Berry had been nominated the day before with "unanimity" by the Democratic state convention, declared yesterday that in 1901 the people "adopted, by an overwhelming majority, an amendment to the constitution enabling the enactment of a personal registration law" and that in 1903 a bill to enforce that provision was "killed by Mr. Plummer and his elections committee." That paper is the Pittsburgh Leader.

The amendment in question provides: "All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens, or for the registration of electors, shall be uniform throughout the state, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, that such laws shall be uniform for cities of the same class." These are the words of the amendment, authorizing a departure from the previous mandate of the constitution that "all laws * * * * shall be uniform," etc. The "overwhelming majority" by which this amendment was adopted was 180,521 votes for and 48,534 votes against. At the same election an amendment was voted to permit the use of voting machines. The vote was: For, 194,053; against, 41,263. At the same election a supreme court judge was elected. The leading candidates received: Republican, 480,599; Democrat, 292,410. Twenty-eight years before, the constitution which was amended in 1901 received 253,744 votes over 73,000 more than this amendment which says laws "may" be made to apply to cities only.

It is worth noting the amendment favoring voting machines received 13,500 more votes than that affecting registration, while upwards of 7,000 votes more were cast against changing the registry law than against the voting machine amendment. These figures show the nature of the "overwhelming majority" for personal registration—the voters so indifferent the vote for the amendment fell nearly 112,000 below that for the Democratic candidate for justice. No less than 532,000 voters at the polls that day withheld their votes from the proposition that is now magnified by the Democratic press into a "burning issue."

The candidate who is now being boosted for the state treasury on the plea that his opponent was one of the 532,000 will discover in November that he lacks about 532,000 votes of being elected. At that time William H. Berry will not care whether he was nominated on May 24, which is the official date on the Democratic convention minutes, or on August 16, at which time the Leader says he was nominated. There is no more reason for the howl about the non-enforcement of the registration amendment than there is to howl about the non-enforcement of the voting machine amendment, which had a larger majority.

The Business Situation.

The stock market this week advanced to the highest average price in its history. United States Steel preferred, Reading Railroad common and a number of other other stocks advanced to the highest prices ever quoted. The market as a whole displayed such a degree of buoyancy and strength as to suggest some important developments justifying its course. There was nothing new in the general business situation, however, to warrant any change. Financial and commercial conditions are sound, and what is equally important, the utmost confidence in the future is entertained. This confidence was strengthened a little more than a week ago by the publication of the government crop report, and it has been sustained by the favorable weather since the figures were compiled. The professional stock market operators profess to believe that the general public has not yet awakened to a full realization of what is before this country in the way of legitimate business and profits, and they are making glowing predictions as to the future course of prices.

It is well to bear in mind the real position of stock market values. As we have said, average prices are the highest in the history of the country. The recovery has gone beyond the level which represents normal conditions of trade and now marks what has heretofore represented high-tide of speculation. There is reason to believe that this high level cannot be indefinitely maintained. It is probable that a considerable percentage of the rise is artificial, and that when the manipulation of the market ceases there will be a sharp reaction. Such event, however, should not be disturbing to general business. In fact, it should have a reassuring effect. It would mean that during September and October, when the greatest demands are made upon the money market by legitimate business, there would not be sharp rivalry between speculators on the one hand and shippers, merchants and manufacturers on the other, for accommodation at bank. It might be well for bankers to recall what happened the last time we had a situation resembling the present. That was in 1902. All lines of business were booming. Crops were abundant, confidence was high and the future absolutely without a cloud. Speculation became rampant and new "high records" for stocks were almost of daily occurrence. Wall street competed with the rest of the country for credit to keep the stock market going at high tension. The result was that money rates advanced to 25 per cent, liquidation set in, and it was not until the present week that the level of prices established on that boom was recovered.

Our foreign trade is relatively as active as domestic trade. Last month our exports of merchandise reached almost $108,000,000 and our imports were $83,856,714. These totals have been exceeded only once in any corresponding month in our history. The increase over July last year is $22,710,000 in exports and $12,662,000 in imports. The balance of trade in favor of the United States was more than $24,000,000, the largest July balance since 1901.

It is seldom that events combine to form a situation more ideal than the present one. Large crops, active industries, profitable prices and an easy money market. Apparently the only thing that should be guarded against is over-confidence, and the only danger point at present is the stock market.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you ever feel afraid that a time will come when there will be more people in existence than the earth, and the waters, and the air can feed and clothe and maintain in reasonable comfort?

Such a state of affairs is not likely during your life time, so that you needn't worry about it anyway.

Not long since a figurer made it appear that it wouldn't be very long, only a few thousand years, until every foot of ground would be occupied by graves, after which a second course would have to be commenced.

This story was widely published, and even more widely read, and no doubt it made some folks feel very badly.

His figures may be correct, but what if they are? What right have you to peb into the affairs of those who may live many thousands of years hence? You don't know what will be what, nor who will be who then, or whether they will be cannibals and eat the weaklings and the aged.

A good way in which to counteract the effects of figuring like this is to do a little yourself.

How much space is occupied by bodies in your cemetery, and at the rate it has been filling up, how long will it take to fill a 10-acre field? Then how many such fields adjoin this one?

Take the number of people living in your township, and the number of acres in it and find out how many there are to the acre. By the same process you can get at the density of population in any state in the Union or of any country whose population and area are known.

A few minutes or an hour or two devoted to such figuring may contribute greatly to your comfort of mind.

In a recently published book are a variety of opinions on the simple life with reference to the improvement of the race. Sir Conan Doyle boldly affirms that we are not only not degenerating, but that we are growing better. And shouldn't Sherlock Holmes know as much about it as Corelli and Crichton-Browne and other literary folks?

But suppose there are more physical and moral failures than formerly, what matters it to you? Are you not up to date and all there, and your children, too? If not, whose fault but your own, and who else will have to answer for it?

If we do not show any improvement over our forbears it is to our shame, for it was intended that we should be the sum of all that has gone before, and then some. That is, we should be able to learn from our parents in a comparatively short time all that they had learned through experience and then begin where they left off and add all we can to the sum.

This is the only way by which real progress can or ever will be made, for if we were satisfied to stop where our fathers did we wouldn't advance a peg beyond where they stood.

It ought to be the aim of every boy to know more than his father, and of every girl to be an improvement on her mother.

How many women do you know who are real improvements over their mothers, yourself and daughters included?

This question is pertinent and not impertinent, as some may think at first glance. In fact it is the question that every mother should ask herself and answer it, too.

If parents will do this it will not be long before the question of degeneracy will be settled satisfactory.

How long will the earth's stock of iron hold out, and what will we do when it becomes exhausted?

You may think this a foolish question, and so it is, but it is being discussed by those who are held to be wise. These argue that as the old world's deposits have been pretty well used up it is only a question of time until those in the new world will be like them.

Prof. Shaler, a man of note as well as an authority on such subjects, says in a recent article in the International Quarterly that iron may again become a precious metal, but not for some ages, perhaps.

What will happen when the supply of iron and copper is not equal to the demand? Can we safely depend on aluminum? On this point the professor says:

"The fact that within 50 years the market price of aluminum has been reduced to about one-tenth of what it was favors this supposition. To bring the cost of aluminum down to say, 10 times that of pig iron, and to produce it on a scale in any important measure to compete with iron, even at double its present price, it will be necessary to reduce the cost of electric power to a small fraction of the present cost of production. Moreover, we do not as yet know how to win it from ordinary clays. Thus with any methods now conceivable we have to reckon that while aluminum is likely in time to take the dominant place now held by iron, it will do so at a cost in terms of labor far higher than what men now pay for their capital metal. Nevertheless, the difference is not likely to be so great that the mechanical foundations of our economical civilization will be endangered."

Thus you see that others have troubles the same as yourself, even to the greatest. Then why should you fret and worry? Or have you found fretting and worrying to be profitable? From the numbers who indulge deeply in these it would seem that they possess some sort of virtue. But if they haven't any, as we have been taught to believe, then what fools these fretty, worrying creatures must be.

Anyway, what causes you to fret and worry? Is it because you have nothing to do that is worth doing? Hardly this for the world is crying loudly for those who want to do things and can do them well.

Maybe money is the whole thing with you? It is so with some, and these are usually fretting and worrying either because they haven't as much as they want or don't know what to do with what they have.

Herbert Jackson Hapgood, a political economist, wrote an article for Harper's Weekly recently in which he shows us wherein lies many of our troubles, from which the following is taken:

"Never in the world's history were there such opportunities for the man of extraordinary ability, coupled with so much power and such unlimited salaries, as exist today. Probably there are now more men who receive a salary of $25,000 or more a year than drew $10,000 a year in the 70s, and as the world moves from greater to still greater things, the demand has apparently removed all limits to the salary that will be paid the men who can stand at the head and successfully manage the immense aggregations of capital recently formed. Never in the world's history was the condition of the employe who works with his hand or automatically with his pen equalled in grade of living, pleasures or opportunities for education and improvement. The skilled laborer today receives more than his superintendent of the 70s.

"Between these two classes there is, however, the man of mediocre ability—conscientious, faithful and hard working, but not executive, inventive or brilliant. He lives more luxuriously than ever before, but because of his limitations cannot rise to power or accumulate wealth. He supports himself and family comfortably during life, but lays aside little or nothing for old age and death. If he had lived between the 50s and 80s, he could have perhaps become the head of a business, a power and influence. But business has progressed so rapidly and become so strenuous that his limitations now prevent his making a place in the business world."

A Wise Suggestion.

If the envoys would only admit correspondents to their meetings they would avoid the necessity of having newspaper writers draw up the treaty on the outside.—Baltimore Sun.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—In about six weeks workmen in the south tube of the New York & New Jersey Railroad Company under the North river expect to make the connection between the New Jersey and Manhattan borings, thus completing the old Morton street tunnel, started 30 years ago.

On March 11 last year the shield from the Jersey end of the north tube of the tunnel touched that from the New York end. It will be many months after the south tube has touched the New York shore before electric cars will be operated in the tunnel. From Morton street up to Christopher street the tunnel will run, and then to Sixth avenue, and up through that thoroughfare to Thirty-third street. There is to be no big terminal at the Greenwich and Christopher street block, purchased by the company. The Thirty-third street station will have a larger area than the other stations of the road in the city, as the trains are to be switched there. At the New Jersey end of the tunnel there are to be two terminals. One will be almost adjoining a part of the new station in Hoboken of the Lackawanna road. The McAdoo companies are seeking only to carry passengers between Manhattan, Hoboken and Jersey City, and are not looking for what are known as "long haul" routes in the suburban sections of New Jersey. The twin tubes of the Morton street tunnel are surrounded by a third wall of cement. This wall was laid for forcing cement with air pressure through holes. The cement wall is as hard as rock, and it may be said that the tubes run through an artificial bed of rock, many feet beneath the bottom of the river.

After Long Walk, She Will Ride.

"Auntie" Martha Rafe, who walked the 400 miles from Creston, W. Va., to New York, will not have to walk the rest of the way to her old home in Ottawa, Canada. Through the United Charities, Supt. Meeks of the department of outdoor poor yesterday provided Mrs. Rafe with transportation. She left for Ottawa today. After profuse thanks she added: "My, but you all live in a big city. I thought Ottawa was about the biggest place in the whole world, but this beats it all to hollow. But you mustn't think I'm as poor as I look. Martha Rafe hasn't come to New York to get into a poor house. No, sir. Six weeks ago my relatives told me they were too poor to provide for me any longer, and so I packed up and started to walk to Ottawa, where I have some richer relatives."

Governor Higgins Will Rest.

Gov. Frank W. Higgins today sailed for Liverpool in the White Star line steamship Cedric. Mrs. Higgins accompanied him and it was partly because of her health that the trip was made. "We expect to be gone until the fifteenth of next month," said Gov. Higgins, "when we will return in the Celtic. I am going to pick out some quiet English country village and there settle down for a rest." In answer to a question regarding insurance, the governor said: "The insurance companies had more power than the banks, and like them, need to be overhauled occasionally."

No Race Suicide in This.

The 50,000 black spotted trout eggs, which arrived at the aquarium on August 11 from the government hatchery in the Yellowstone park, began hatching last night, and this morning the entire collection is rapidly changing into a mammoth school of very diminutive but exceedingly lively infant trout. The directors of the aquarium are confident that they will produce fully 49,000 fishes from this hatching. As soon as the trout are big enough they will be turned over to the New York state fish commission, to be used in stocking brooks and streams throughout the state.

Plans Filed for New Lodging House.

Plans for the new municipal lodging house are complete, and the contract for its construction will be let by the beginning of September. This institution, the second to be established by the city, will stand on the south side of East Twenty-fifth street east of First avenue. It is to cost $175,000, exclusive of the land, which was purchased several years ago for $41,000. The projected establishment will accommodate between 725 and 750 persons, inclusive of a force of about 30 employes. There will be quarters for 100 women. It is the expectation of Commissioner of Charities Tully that the building will be completed and ready for occupancy by the beginning of the winter of 1906-07.

Woman Finds New Swindling Scheme.

A pretty and handsomely gowned young woman of 21, who gave her name as Maud K. Wrightman, was arrested today by detectives from the Adams street police station, charged with swindling dry goods stores. Her plan was to order goods sent to a fictitious Mrs. Brown, Jones or Smith, at some house which had a convenient entrance. She would wait at the entrance for the delivery wagon and take the goods from the boy with the smiling instruction that he go upstairs and ask her father to pay the bill. As no father was ever found, the delivery clerks returned without the money only to find that the girl and goods had vanished.

Can't Keep Kansas Out.

Of course, Kansas breaks into the peace conference. Mr. Takasugi, one of the Japanese representatives at Portsmouth, traveled over Kansas lecturing on "Yeddo, the Land of the Rising Sun," 15 or 20 years ago. Mr. Takasugi is a Methodist, and not a benighted heathen, and was at that time attending Baker university. He spent part of one summer up in Jefferson county with Dr. G. W. Davis, now of Ottawa, who was also in DePauw.—Topeka Journal.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES

An Englishman Who Can Learn.

Roderick P. Horton, who is connected with the motive power department of the Midland railroad of England, passed through Pittsburgh last night on his way to New York, whence he will sail for England next week. Mr. Horton has spent three months in America, largely in the southwest, inspecting American railroads and railway methods.

"Your great distances in this country are something it is hard for an English railway man to accustom himself to," said Mr. Horton. "To ride on a railway, in a luxurious train, through hundreds of miles of almost unsettled country, and then to learn that the railroad is a paying investment, seems wonderful to us, accustomed as we are to countless villages and towns on the lines of our railways. I infer from talks I had with railroad officers that down in the southwest many extensions, particularly into mining regions, will be built in the next few years. I find your railway men much interested in British methods, although they will not admit that there is anything to learn from us. I confess, frankly, however, that we can learn from America. I find it is the custom here for railroad companies to lay by a surplus every year for the improvement of the road, purchase of rolling stock and other betterments. In our country it is different. There the policy has been followed of paying out all the profits in dividends and then, when improvements are vitally necessary, to issue new stock to obtain the money to make the improvements. Thus some of our railways now find themselves confronted with a large capital account on which dividends are to be paid. But that system will be changed. It may be difficult to train the stockholders to accept smaller dividends, using the surplus for the improvement account, but it will have to be done."

President's Son on the Train.

Dr. Spence Talks on Negro.

Dr. J. S. Spence, chancellor of the American University at Harriman, Tenn., passed through Pittsburgh last night on his way from Atlantic City to Knoxville, Tenn., his home. Dr. Spence said that education was spreading among the negroes of the south. He deplored the false ideas, which, he said, the northern people had concerning the treatment accorded the negroes by the whites of the south, but he said the average northern man who spent three years in the south usually came to the conclusion that the southern people were able to cope with the negro problem and at the same time treated the negro with kindness.

Mountain Climbing for Autos.

One week each year is the open season for automobiling on Mt. Washington, up in New Hampshire. This is now considered quite a concession for the mountain climbers who leave a trail of blue fumes in their wake. Although the recent improvements in automobiles and the equally recent improvements in the New England roads have made it possible to drive a gasoline car clear to the summit of the famous old peak of the White mountains, the Puritan laws of the state prohibit the use of the roads except during one week. The New Englanders have a particular horror of using the auto for mountain climbing. They would as soon think of going to bed without reading a canto of Browning. They still go peakwards in busses and on the backs of ponies. Dr. C. S. Kerr of Emleton told about this last night at the Hotel Henry. With Mrs. Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Mitchell of Emleton he spent a month on an automobile journey, and after doing the pence conference at Portsmouth, went straight up to Crawford Notch, where they learned all about New Hampshire's peculiar automobile laws. They will return up the valley to Emleton today.

Returning from Vacation.

What seemed an unusually large number of families, fathers and mothers and children tanned a rich brown, got off trains from the east at the Union station last night. At the station it was said that during the current week more families have returned from Atlantic City than during any previous week since the excursion business began. A good many men who leave their families in Atlantic City for a lengthy stay were seen bringing them home last night. The near approach of the school term is causing the families to return.

Tri-Family Reunion to Be Held.

Jesse M. McGeary, former surgeon, was seen yesterday preparing for a call on Miller J. McGeary of New Kensington, secretary of the McGeary-McLaughlin-Stewart annual family reunion. This year the tri-family assemblage will be held in Butler park, Butler, on August 29. It is expected that nearly 500 people will sit down to dinner, all having McGeary, McLaughlin and Stewart blood in them. All of the members can claim descent from a progenitor who came over in the Mayflower.

Visitors and Personal Mention.

E. R. Denny, secretary of the Master Builders association of Chicago, was in the city yesterday. He congratulated Chicago on being comparatively free from labor troubles, but said that while there was a good outlook for the building trades this year, not many very large buildings would be constructed, as labor troubles earlier in the year had deterred contractors from undertaking big work with a time limit in the agreement.

P. A. Geraghty, lien clerk in the city controller's office, left yesterday on his vacation.

William P. Meeker, a big Newark, N. J., tile manufacturer, is in the city on business.

"What and where is Cowes?"

"Cowes is a well-known watering place."

"There, I knew it!"

"What?"

"Why, I asked our milkman where in the world he got that milk, and he said from Cowes."—Cleveland Leader.

"Why do you want a divorce?" the judge asked.

"Because I can't look at my wife without being tempted to commit suicide or murder."

"What brought about this state of mind?"

"She put moth balls in my cigar pocket."

"Petition granted."—Judge.

A Feast of Good Things For Midsummer Sunday

In these days of many newspapers it is a piece of good fortune to be able to get one which combines entertainment and instruction. In Pittsburgh you find this happy combination in

THE SUNDAY GAZETTE

Tomorrow's issue will not be an exception to the rule that always obtains when The Sunday Gazette is prepared—to give the best possible in the most attractive form. One of the foremost features in tomorrow's paper is an article dealing with important questions for the American people to answer. It is from the pen of

BISHOP HENRY C. POTTER

Every person who thinks cannot fail to read this with great interest and feel that the bishop has opened up a grave question. "Plague Panics and Their Tendency to Result in Strange Delusions" by treats of some of the conditions arising from the yellow fever scare in the south at present.

"The Messenger Boy and the Prof," is the title of a new series written by E. W. Townsend, author of the "Chimmie Fadden" series. It is not on the "Chimmie Fadden" order, but is a humorous treatment of some phases of New York life which will be certain to make you laugh.

"THE SKYLIGHT ROOM,"

by O. Henry, is another of the very popular series of little stories of the big city and tells how an ambulance surgeon finds in a garret room the girl he loves.

"JIMMIEBOY IN TRUSTLAND,"

by John Kendrick Bangs, is the last of this series by this well-known humorous writer. He has taken Jimmieboy through the wonderful country of Trustland and he is ready to aver that the day of greed has passed and that the millennium is upon us.

"Mrs. Jimmy Latour, the Evolutionist," is No. 87 of Little Poems of Greater Pittsburgh and tells a few things in the Tatler's best style.

CASPAR WHITNEY,

editor of Outing, writes on "Sport and the Quest of the Modern Grail." He takes the stand that professionalism in sports tends toward deterioration and leads to corruption and crookedness.

STRANGE SHIPS and ODD CARGOES is a well written and illustrated article on the many kind of craft and the queer cargoes they carry into the port of New York.

COL. A. K. McCLURE

tells of a year of Republican disaster in the history of Pennsylvania politics. Another illustrated and interesting feature is

"KING EDWARD'S BEST CHUM IS AN AMERICAN WOMAN,"

It tells of the social swath cut by the duchess of Manchester and how the king of England is entertained at her house.

THE HOUSEWIVES' CONGRESS

is as entertaining and practical as ever. "What is your pet economy?" is the question treated this week, and every feminine reader of The Sunday Gazette cannot fail to profit by the article. Gazette menus and how to provide them at a minimum cost is a feature of this page. All that is

NEWEST IN FASHIONS

is shown on the fashion page. "Some Hints on Midsummer Mourning Wear," by Mme. Fullerton; "Preparing for Fall Wear," by Catherine Howard, illustrated with original drawings; "Why Leather Shoes May Hurt in Warm Weather," and kindred subjects are treated in an able manner.

CHOICE FICTION

is read by all. The Sunday Gazette prints only what is best in short stories.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

there is a page full of interesting matter and pictures. The Gazette boys' and girls' page is prepared by one of the best juvenile authorities and is always interesting.

AND THE COMICS

are all there as usual. Buster Brown plays some amusing pranks with Cousin Fanny's bean, much to the chagrin of the young woman and damage to the young man. Buddy Tucker and Alice of Wonderland visit the dog who worried the cat, Sammy Sneeze sneezes away a few ghosts that Dinah was telling about, Jimmy starts to save money in a way peculiarly his own, Sam gets a job as waiter and his laugh proves his undoing, Willie Pitt has some remarkable adventures, and it was hat smashing day in Coon Hollow. All this and much more in

OLD CELLAR WILL GUARD SECRETS

Heavy Doors and Big Bolts Keep Newspapermen Out of the Police Headquarters.

YELLOW BOOK STORIES HURT

Publicity given the circulation of the yellow book among the Allegheny city employes seems to have hurt the feelings of the Wyman administration leaders and war has been declared upon the newspapers. Tuesday night when the collection book was taken down into the assembly room and handed around among the police a Gazette reporter was ordered to leave the room. He refused and the book did not get into the hands of the bluecoats until Wednesday night.

Some one carried the news to Mayor Wyman, and carpenters were put to work on the stairway and at the two doors leading into the assembly room. The job was done in a hurry and last night every one that got into the room had to give the "high sign" and demonstrate that he was a qualified administration cohort.

The reporters were allowed to inspect the "repairs" and then were told to get out of the room and stay out. Big signs have been nailed up on the walls of the room bearing this injunction:

"This assembly room is for the use of officers only. All others take notice."

Hereafter when a reporter wants to get down into the police court room he must enter from the Ohio street pavement and in through the door where tramps are admitted for a night's lodging.

Shortly after Superintendent M. H. Campbell was suspended the "front" office on the first floor was cut up into three rooms and the newspapermen were not given keys to these sanctums. The water-cooler and towel near the door of John Glenn's office were removed the other day, so that now there is no excuse whatever for a reporter to frequent the place.

But the work done yesterday in the police assembly room is the most thorough that has been done so far. The stairway from the "front" office has been boarded up and a heavy door put on at the bottom. The door locks from the inside. Heavy bolts have been put on the door leading into the police court room and on the door between the assembly room and the stairs leading up to the hallway on the first floor. All the bolts are on the inside, and once inside there the persons who do the "private work" for the administration are in no danger of being observed by newspapermen and others who may wish to see how the police report for duty each evening.

Capt. James Agnew got orders last night to keep the newspapermen out of the assembly room and to instruct them that they must never under any circumstances enter the place unless accompanied by one of Agnew's superior officers. It was suggested to the captain that the talk about the yellow book might have inspired the administration to its efforts to secure secrecy. Agnew just smiled. He refused to say who gave him the orders to bar the reporters.

Some of the police were asked last night why they signed the yellow book. They say that when the book was taken to No. 3 station on Tuesday night every man there signed it without protest. This left the men at Central station in no position to make a fight, and for this reason all but one signed it.

A FARMER'S EXIT.

Countryman Thinks He Can Get Out of a Skyscraper by Walking Up Stairs.

He carried a real carpet bag, and it was such a splendid example of the old-time article that it looked like an imitation. It looked as if it had seen hard service in the days when a carpet bag was such an important factor in the reconstruction. In other respects he matched the bag. His trousers were baggy and he carried a baggy umbrella. His eyes were small and dark and glistened like two shoe buttons in a roll of butter.

He got into the elevator cage on the twentieth floor of the Farmers bank building and said he wanted to get out. The elevator glided downward and he gasped like a boy who goes swimming in the cold pool below the springhouse. He reached the first floor and asked the operator the way out. He got mixed on the directions and didn't see the door. Then he started walking up the stairs.

"That's not the way out of the building," shouted the elevator dispatcher, trying to intercept the man. He hesitated a moment, and then laughed, saying apologetically.

"Gosh, I came down in that thing three times but couldn't get out, so I jist walked up again. A boy told me that a blamed good way to get out of the place would be to walk up to the top. Sakes alive! I must a-walked most a mile."

Find Dynamite on Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—A stick of dynamite was found today at the basement entrance of the building adjoining the William H. Vanderbilt house, Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street, formerly occupied by Andrew Carnegie.

The building is being remodeled for William P. Clyde, but how the dynamite came to be where it was found is a mystery to the police. The stick is eight inches long and was wrapped in common packing paper.

WYMAN FACES IRE OF UNION LABOR

Mayor Gets Notice That Organized Workmen Will Not Endure Assessment.

WILL FIGHT YELLOW BOOK

For the first time in the history of local politics organized labor has taken up the fight of city employes against assessments made on union men for political purposes.

Mayor Wyman of Allegheny has been served with notice that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers will not tolerate the levying of 2 per cent, or any other amount, on the wages of the men employed at the city light plant.

In addition to this, Wyman is told in a way that admits of no misunderstanding, that should he discriminate against any of the men at the light plant who refuse to sign the yellow book he will feel the force of organized labor in the first campaign in which he is interested.

Local union No. 14, to which 11 men employed at the light plant belong, held a meeting Thursday night at their headquarters in Grant street. The protest of the men against the second 2 per cent assessment within a year was discussed and the Allegheny payroll men were told not to sign the book. They were assured the electrical union would stand by them, whatever might be the results; and that Mayor Wyman could look for punitive measures from all organized labor should he attempt any revenge upon those refusing to contribute to his campaign fund.

Union Men Will Not Contribute.

"If Mayor Wyman wants to raise money for political purposes, he can't do it by bleeding union men," said Samuel D. Young, business agent and secretary of local union No. 14 yesterday. "It is none of our business what financial transactions Mayor Wyman carries on with city employes not in any labor organization, but when he starts to disrupt union wage scales by reducing the wages of union men, organized labor is ready to step in and make a fight.

"It was through the yellow book stories in The Gazette that the attention of our local was first called to the Allegheny administration scheme to extract 2 per cent from the payroll. We held a meeting on Thursday night for the purpose of taking action in behalf of the men at the city light plant who are in our union. The result was we sent a letter to Mayor Wyman today, and he will get it in his mail tomorrow morning. I am not at liberty to show you a copy of the letter, but the sense of the communication is this:

"Under the union wage scale and by ordinance passed by Allegheny councils the men working at the light plant are paid $3 a day. To accept any less would be violating the union agreement on the part of the men, and to reduce this wage by a levy for any purpose is violating an ordinance of councils.

Will Tolerate No Assessment.

"In the latter offense we have no interest, but in the first we have. We will tolerate no assessment upon union men and we will resent in an effective way any discrimination imposed upon union men who refuse to contribute to political campaign funds.

"Already the men at the city light plant have paid out $48 each for political purposes. Another assessment means $96 out of a man's yearly wages. This is equivalent to a reduction of 4 per cent from the union scale, a thing not to be countenanced by union men.

"I understand Mayor Wyman has often expressed himself as very favorable to organized labor. If he is sincere, this would be a good time to show it. Should Mayor Wyman care to antagonize the electrical workers, he will find he is fighting every branch of organized labor. It is not hard to realize what would happen to any political machine that had the entire strength of organized labor against it, and that is certainly what the Wyman political party will face if union men are punished for refusing to give up their wages to pay campaign expenses.

Allegheny City May Suffer.

"All these things are explained to Wyman in our letter, and we expect to hear from him without delay. If there is a fight to be made over this political scheme, Allegheny City will suffer considerably during the coming winter. It is then that wires are always snapping and experienced men are needed to see the city is properly lighted. We control the linemen in this district and the city always needs linemen, especially in the winter time. Some things are certain in this affair. Our men will never sign the yellow book nor ever pay tribute in money to any political party. Discrimination against our men will meet with retaliation, and organized labor in such an event would make itself felt in the next political fight in Allegheny."

WANAMAKER PRAISES THE NEGRO LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—John Wanamaker today addressed the convention of the Negro Business league. He said, among other things: "The very existence of this business league is to me an indictment against exploitation of progress by chance, favoritism, or sympathy. You cannot afford to stop for a single minute in order to become the ward of the nation. The great dream that you were to be lifted and carried has been exploded." The league today re-elected Booker T. Washington president.

LEADING JEWISH CITIZENS RECEIVE INFERNAL MACHINES

Deadly Explosive Contrivances Are Sent to Jacob H. Schiff and to M. Guggenheim's Sons—Police Investigate the Boxes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Two small infernal machines were sent to prominent New Yorkers today, Jacob H. Schiff, the banker who early this week conferred with M. White, the chief Russian peace plenipotentiary, concerning the condition of the Jews in Russia, was the target of the more dangerous of the machines, a contrivance capable of causing death. The other was received by M. Guggenheim's Sons, and was directed to the office of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

Mr. Schiff was absent from the city, being at Bar Harbor. The banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of which he is a member, received by mail a wooden box about six inches long, addressed to Mr. Schiff and marked as if coming from Edward VII. It was immediately turned over to the police, although at first regarded only as a joke.

Removal of the box's wooden cover disclosed only an innocent package wrapped in a paper bearing stock quotations, but inside was a contrivance arranged, at the least rough handling, to discharge two cartridges, loaded with 32-caliber bullets and packed about with lead plugs. The entire affair was enclosed inside a cylinder of emery paper, tightly sealed with cotton, and containing 31 grains of highly explosive powder and matches. The matches were placed so as to be ignited by the emery paper, and then to touch off the powder. To insure the firing of the cartridges by the powder flash, the fulminating end of each one had been filed to make a small fuse hole. An oily substance soaked the entire machine, apparently to doubly insure a dangerous explosion.

The other infernal machine, identical in size and general make with this one, was received by M. Guggenheim Sons, in a package which bore on the outside, in stamped letters, the name of Jacob H. Schiff. The name stood alone with nothing to explain its presence there.

This machine differed from the Schiff explosive only by containing, in place of the cartridges, a phial filled with some substance, thought to be nitro glycerine or sulphuric acid.

The receiving clerk at Guggenheim Sons placed the package in water. Soon it exploded sufficiently to tear open its wrappings and to disclose an emery paper cylinder. This explosion was thought to come from gases generated by the soaking. The working parts of the machine, however, remained intact, except that the water had so soaked them as to render a determination of their original power difficult.

R. C. HALL NOT BEHIND THE KAUFMAN OFFER

Pittsburgh Broker Says He Is Not Interested in Plans to Lease Castle Shannon.

Robert C. Hall, the Pittsburgh broker, has no connection with the bid for the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon railroad, made on Thursday by Attorney William Kaufman.

Mr. Hall's supposed connection with the Allegheny traction lines headed by Mr. Kaufman had led some to suppose that he was connected also with Mr. Kaufman's bid for the Castle Shannon, but this was flatly denied last evening by Mr. Hall.

Outside of the fact that former State Senator Perry Gibson of Erie is a member of the syndicate which Milton D. Hays represents, there is no further information concerning Mr. Hays' offer. Senator Gibson and his brother have come to be factors of importance in the traction business in Westmoreland county and elsewhere.

The report was started yesterday that the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, which was some time ago credited with an attempt to control the Philadelphia Company, is back of the Hays bid. This rumor was not verified. The company has been buying control of lines from Indianapolis east and has reached as far as Zanesville, O.

DENVER, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Henry D. Davis of Cleveland, O., was elected grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles by the grand aerie by acclamation this afternoon.

JAPANESE STATESMAN HAS A LONG CONFERENCE

Baron Kaneko in the President's Company for Three Hours—His Mission Is a Mysterious One.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Whatever Baron Kaneko's long and mysterious mission may be, it apparently terminated tonight. After a three hours' conference with President Roosevelt the Japanese statesman said: "I hope I shall not have to come to Oyster Bay again."

Baron Kaneko, who unquestionably represents the Japanese government in an official capacity, has been making frequent calls on the president since early in the spring. He has been at Sagamore Hill four times in the past seven weeks, sometimes bringing a secretary and a green bag with him.

Though a ready talker on every subject except himself, Baron Kaneko has not dropped the slightest hint as to the nature of his business with the president. On leaving Sagamore Hill today he inquired eagerly for the news of the day from Portsmouth. When informed it looked like a hopeless deadlock, he expressed his keen disappointment.

WEST LIBERTY KNOCKS.

Petition Is Presented to Court Asking for Admission to Pittsburgh.

The borough of West Liberty asks to be annexed to the city of Pittsburgh. A petition signed by a number of the taxpayers of the borough was presented in quarter sessions court yesterday. The petition was ordered filed and a notice served on the mayor of Pittsburgh that West Liberty is seeking admission to the city.

The mayor will then communicate with the Pittsburgh councils and councils will pass an ordinance giving the city's consent to the annexation of West Liberty. Then the court, if it considers the matter favorably, will set a date for an election in the borough to determine whether the union shall take place.

Braddock Stores to Close Tomorrow.

The merchants of Braddock, who have been keeping their stores open on Sunday, received notice yesterday from Chief of Police William Bennett to discontinue the practice, and tomorrow every place of business, except drug stores, will be closed tight. There is no disposition to resist the order.

VERNER IS INTERESTED IN SUBWAYS ELSEWHERE

Pittsburgh Traction Man, Who Denied Part in New Plans, Makes Philadelphia Inspection.

The fact that Murry A. Verner of this city spent a part of Thursday inspecting the Market street subway in Philadelphia is taken as an indication of his interest in the proposed underground passenger railways in this city, despite his denials.

A great deal of time is being spent by the promoters of the rival underground projects in preparing for a legal battle. The possibility of the Pittsburgh Railways Company entering the game as a third party is believed to be strong. The big system, under laws passed in the last days of the last legislature, by adopting extensions and filing the plans at Harrisburg and in the county recorder's office can protect any unoccupied route it wishes for two years. Whether it will succeed in carrying out this plan if such is deemed necessary remains to be seen.

That the Fording-Morse projects will conflict with the plans of the "Freight Tunnel Company," projected a year ago by the Penn interests, seems inevitable. The rights given to a company by the tunnel act are extensive, but it is claimed that the rights of an underground passenger railway company are superior to those of a tunnel company.

AUTOS ON WARPATH.

One Boy Seriously Injured, One Badly Bruised and Three Men and Horse Suffer by Motor Cars.

An automobile driven by F. M. Lowry, president of the Harkaway Hunt club, frightened a horse being driven by S. Mc. Rumbaugh and 5-year-old son near McDonald yesterday morning. The horse upset the buggy and hurled the young boy on top of a fence, a paling of which penetrated the lad's lung. The boy is not expected to recover. The man was also bruised and hurt, while the horse was severely injured.

Harry Baker, aged 13, of 5 Whitney street, was knocked down and painfully injured by an automobile owned by A. C. Reed, in front of the Frick building yesterday afternoon. The boy was taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where it was found that his leg was injured.

William Shorts of 185 Mayflower street and John Ward of the East End hotel were severely injured about the head and body at midnight on Thursday by leaping from an automobile while the latter was going at a high rate of speed in Beechwood boulevard. The machine was about to dash into a 25-foot washout when the men jumped. The machine was wrecked.

CANNOT KEEP PROMISE.

Director Bigelow Will Not Give the Twentieth Ward Residents Relief Within 30 Days.

Director Bigelow will not be able to fulfill his promise to give the Twentieth ward relief from the existing water shortage within 30 days. Councilmen Helmold, Roenigk and E. A. Kern called at the bureau of water supply and distribution yesterday to see Supt. Shepherd, but were told that Mr. Shepherd was in the east, to hurry the shipments of pipe for the proposed extension in the Twentieth ward. The committee was told that trenches were being dug in Haights run for the pipe.

Mr. Helmold said the extensions would not be made in 30 days, as Director Bigelow had promised. Several wagers were made on Mr. Bigelow's promise at the time it was given.

Mayor Hays now says relief will come within 60 days. The limit of 30 days expires on August 28.

SOUTH AFRICA HAS ITS RACE PROBLEM TO CONTEND WITH

Kaffirs Are Beginning to Claim the Country Belongs to Them—Despite Religious Training They Are Becoming Hypocrites.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 18.—The British association resumed its sittings here today. W. W. Way, principal of the Graaf Reinet college, read a paper on "The Disability of the South African School Boy," in which, after pointing out the disadvantages of association of Kaffir playmates, and of the existing bilinguality, Mr. Way said there could be no denying the South African racial question had laid its peculiar curse upon the country. It was impossible to banish it entirely from the schools, but the wise schoolmaster might do much to counteract the intrigues of the politician and the fanaticism of the minister.

The best object lesson on the matter, he said, had recently been furnished by a meeting of the Native Political association, at which the president openly declared to his negro brethren the time had come for asserting the country belonged to them. Mr. Way did not believe seriously in the possibilities of a native rising, but he did realize that the quarrel of the future would be, not between English and Dutch, but between black and white, and he would welcome a bloody native insurrection, if it could bring home to the younger generation, at any rate, that the school should not be made the battleground of a struggle between the two white races, that the edged tool of the native vote should not be played with by either political party, but that the attention of all white men should be earnestly devoted to the solution of this most critical question.

Speaking of the growth of skepticism and irreligion, Mr. Way said the young South African was also tending to become a hypocrite, for only in America were there more religious societies for the young, and every boy and girl wore some distinctive badge of Christian profession. He had heard of a young rascal cained several times during the week for lying, cheating and stealing, going to a Christian Endeavor meeting in order to pass a note during the opening prayer to his inamorata for the time being, and then praying fervently that his former master might be led into the right path. The consequence was that in no other country was practical morality so entirely divorced from professed religion.

In conclusion, Mr. Way protested that the want of money was the curse of education in South Africa at the present moment.

Baseball Players Superstitious.

Few people are more superstitious than baseball players. Nearly every member of the big leagues has his hobbies and his pet ideas about hoodoos and ill omens. One of the most common beliefs is that whenever a picture of the team is taken defeat is sure to follow. So it is that photographers have difficulty in getting a good picture of the league aggregations. Last Tuesday the Pittsburgh team was photographed for the Index, Pittsburgh's illustrated weekly, and straightway Pittsburgh lost to Philadelphia. But the photographer got a wonderful picture, a yard long, showing each player erect in his characteristic pose. This is reproduced as a supplement with this week's Index, and is the best thing of the sort Pittsburghers has ever seen. On sale Saturday at all news stands, price five cents. Get your copy early.

UPSON ANDREWS PASSES AWAY

Organizer of Pittsburgh Coal Company Dies in a Cleveland Hospital.

SKETCH OF HIS BUSY CAREER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—Upson A. Andrews, former treasurer of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, died this afternoon at Lakeside hospital, aged 55 years. He had been afflicted with a growth on one of his ears. For the removal of this an operation was performed last Sunday, and erysipelas followed.

Mr. Andrews was known for years as one of the leading coal operators of the country, and the formation of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is directly attributable to him. He originated the scheme and was the first treasurer of the company after it was formed.

A shrewd business man Mr. Andrews was uniformly successful in all his ventures and leaves an enviable record behind him. Besides his devotion to business, Mr. Andrews found time to pay attention to other things. He was known as a patron of racing, being both a breeder and owner of trotting and pacing horses. Last spring he purchased the Forest City stock farm, one of the largest in the county, at Randall, O., from C. F. Emery of Cleveland. He was making that his home at the time of his death.

Mr. Andrews was one of three sons of the late Austin Andrews, who died last spring. His other brothers, Frank and Daniel, are both dead. He was born May 20, 1851 on the Kinsman farm at Warren, O. His education was had at Hiram College, and when he left it, he became identified with the building of the Niles & New Lisbon road, of which the late C. H. Andrews was the promoter.

The road being completed, Mr. Andrews went to Youngstown and entered the office of C. M. Andrews, a leading coal operator, taking charge of it. He left Youngstown in 1878, going into the oil fields and beginning extensive operations. His headquarters was at Bradford, Pa., and it was while he was there he was married to Miss Harriet Warmington of Cleveland.

Mr. Andrews remained in the oil country until 1882, when he returned to Youngstown. He purchased an interest in the Carbon Limestone Company and was at the head of it until 1887, when his interests were purchased by the late C. H. Andrews and John A. Logan, Jr. In 1886 he started the Mahoning Gas Fuel Company and became its manager, remaining at the head of it for something over a year.

Mr. Andrews went to Pittsburgh in 1887 as the president of the Imperial Coal Company and the Montour Railroad Company, succeeding James McCreary, who, with C. H. Andrews, was largely interested in the company. It was the Imperial Coal Company which afterwards became a part of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Mr. Andrews was elected treasurer of the Pittsburgh Coal Company when it was formed, but he resigned and returned to Youngstown in 1902.

Mr. Andrews leaves besides his widow three children, Austin W., aged 21; William M., aged 19., and Alice, aged 17.

THREE WOMEN WILL SERVE ON THE STAFF OF GEN. KING

For the First Time in the History of the G. A. R. Members of the Gentler Sex Are Appointed Aides.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Commander-in-Chief John R. King of the Grand Army of the Republic in a general order issued today from the national headquarters here, announces the appointment of three women to be honorary aides on his staff, at the national encampment to be held next month in Denver, Colorado. The appointees are: Mrs. Kate B. Sherwood of Ohio, and Mrs. Sarah E. Fuller and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Turner of Massachusetts, all of whom are past national presidents of the Women's Relief Corps. This is the first time women will have served upon the staff of the commander-in-chief. The appointments are designated as a "tribute to the work of the Women's Relief Corps."

S. W. Backus and C. Mason Kinne, both past senior vice commanders-in-chief, of San Francisco, and George Stone, past department commander, San Francisco, are appointed a committee in furtherance of the resolution adopted at the last national encampment relative to changing the state soldiers' home at Yountsville, Cal., to the national soldiers' home. Comrade Thomas B. Rogers, assistant adjutant general, department of Missouri, is named a member of the committee on rules, regulations and ritual in place of William M. Olin of Massachusetts, declined.

The commander-in-chief also announces the appointments of aides de camp on his staff as follows: For Kansas, James P. Worrell of Larned; for Maryland, George H. Hartman, Thomas J. Hearix, G. Hubert Schmidt, Charles W. Hull and John G. Taylor of Baltimore; John W. McCullough of North East, and John H. Mitten of Westminster; for Ohio, Harrison E. King of Cleveland.

DISCOVER COW WITH THE LACTERIA PRODIGIOSUS

Bovine Which Gives Pink Milk Confined in Veterinary Department of University of Pennsylvania.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—Pink milk might be thought a desirable thing in these days of pink teas, but when the customers of Stanley R. Brunges, a former member of the legislature, who runs a big dairy farm near Tunkhannock, Pa., found their milk turning pink they did not like it.

Local veterinarians inspected the herd but could find no sick cattle, certainly no evidence of tuberculosis. Finally Dr. Leonard Pearson, head of the University of Pennsylvania veterinary department, sent Dr. Dubler up to the farm. In a short time he traced the pink milk to one cow in the herd. That cow was brought to the city and is in the stables of the veterinary department, where the pink spots have been proved to be composed of bacteria prodigiosus.

The disease is known to have existed before the Christian era. Its effects were shown when the Jews were in the wilderness. Then the bread made with the milk of the herds turned red. This was thought then to be miraculous.

Lost Train and Broke His Neck.

James McCurry of North Bessemer terrace, fell and broke his neck last night near Bessemer station on the Pennsylvania railroad. McCurry and a companion were returning home about 10:30 o'clock when they decided to ride. McCurry's companion succeeded in boarding the train but McCurry missed it, and while running after it fell over a 30 feet into a viaduct and broke his neck.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

STRANGE COMPACT STORY IS REVEALED BY DEATH

A Love Romance of Two Brothers Which Started in Turkey Is Terminated in an Ohio Hospital.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MARION, O., Aug. 18.—Behind the death of Theodore Lazo at the City hospital a short time ago is a remarkable story of love and adventure that began across the sea—a story of how fate prevented two brothers from carrying out a compact of vengeance because one of them had been robbed of his sweetheart.

In Turkey Domi Lazo fell in love with a Turkish woman who married Ilio Tjomi. Lazo hounded the man who had won his sweetheart until they fled to America for safety. Inducing his brother, Theodore, to form a compact of vengeance against Tjomi they followed to America and separated to look for Tjomi.

Theodore secured a position as a laborer on the Pennsylvania railroad near Bucyrus and fell from a handcar, dying a few days later in the City hospital. Domi located his rival at Mansfield, attempted to kill him and is now in jail.

BOY PROVES A GOOD WITNESS.

Denver Blackshire Testifies in Behalf of His Mother in the West Virginia Murder Trial.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Denver Blackshire, aged nine years, son of the murdered man, Henry Blackshire, gave strong testimony in behalf of his mother in the trial at Grantville, today. He was the only child at home the night of the murder, and in his testimony today bore out his mother in every particular. Cross-examination could not shake him and his testimony before the coroner's jury three months ago was the same. One of the guards at the jail testified that Hendricks had said that he had told more than he should and even more than he knew.

It was proven by the state that Hendricks and McCroskey had not been together when their stories were first told and that they had had no time to confer and make up their testimony. Some other evidence was brought out of a corroborative nature and witnesses were introduced by the state to testify to the good character and truth and veracity of the prosecuting witness. The evidence is all in. Arguments will be made tomorrow morning and by noon it is believed the case will be with the jury.

FARMER SHOOTS SOLDIER.

Residents Near Militia Camp Are Enraged Over Frequent Raids on Melon Patches and Orchards.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—George Huggins, a farmer living near the camp of the national guard, opened fire on a squad of the soldiers late last night, and one of them fell wounded and was carried into camp by his friends. The men were raiding Huggins' melon patch. All the farmers near the camp have resorted to the shotgun method for protecting their melon patches.

Yesterday an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio train carrying visitors to camp was arrested and kept in the guard house for two hours, because he bought a sandwich at a refreshment booth outside of line where a guard had been placed to prevent the soldiers from crossing.

Arrest Expected in Bomb Case.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The police expect to make an arrest soon in connection with the discovery of a bomb that was thrown into the yard of Councilman William G. Young Wednesday night. The bomb, which had failed to explode, was found the next morning. Italians are suspected, as at the council meeting Monday night Young opposed giving the Italians permission to have a fireworks display to close the feast of the Assumption off the Virgin Mary.

Keever-Ulerich Wedding.

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Miss Anna Keever, daughter of Mrs. Julia Keever of Latrobe, and Prof. W. W. Ulerich, ex-county superintendent of the Westmoreland county public schools, were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. C. Wolf, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Latrobe. Mr. and Mrs. Ulerich left for an eastern tour. They will reside at Ligonier.

Charge Oil Man With Fraud.

WARREN, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—James A. Viele, a well-known oil man, organizer and former officer in the Jefferson County Gas Company, was arrested today on the charge of fraud. The complaint was made by Attorney Perry D. Clark. It is alleged that Viele sold spurious stock in his company to several local capitalists. The affair created a sensation in business and social circles.

Miss Verna Morrison and the Rev. William Bilheimer Meet Death in the Allegheny.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LEECHBURG, PA., Aug. 18.—While bathing in the Allegheny river at Godfrey two campers, the Rev. William A. Bilheimer of Youngwood and Miss Verna Morrison, daughter of State Representative W. F. Morrison of Mt. Pleasant, were drowned this afternoon. The two campers were members of a party of five, consisting of Mr. Foster and his mother of Jeannette and Miss Sullinger of Youngwood, Pa.

Miss Morrison and the Rev. Bilheimer went bathing this afternoon in the river to test a pair of patent floats. Miss Morrison supported herself by the floats and the Rev. Mr. Bilheimer, walking on the bed of the river, supported her head and was trying to teach her to swim. Neither could swim. The bed of the river near this point is full of holes and venturing too far out Bilheimer suddenly stepped beyond his depth. In his struggles to regain his balance he knocked the floats from under Miss Morrison, who also fell into the hole.

Young Foster, who was out in the river rowing, saw the accident but was too far down the river to render any aid. Rowing as speedily as possible to the spot he was only in time to see the pair sink. Assistance was called from nearby farms and within 20 minutes the body of the girl was recovered. About half an hour later divers brought the body of the young minister from the hole.

The Rev. Mr. Bilheimer was 27 years old and his parents live in Allentown, Pa. He had preached in this vicinity several times and was well known here. He was in charge of a church at Youngwood, Pa. Miss Morrison was 22 years old and was also acquainted in this vicinity. Her father left Mt. Pleasant upon receiving word of the accident and arrived here tonight to take charge of his daughter's body.

PROCTOR WAS NEAR FREEDOM.

Promoter's Failure to Have Correct Bonds Causes a Return to Jail—Six Charges of False Pretense.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Failure of the Title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton, Pa., to have on file in the prothonotary's office of Fayette county a certificate from the secretary of the commonwealth as to their financial standing, prevented Promoter George H. Proctor of New York from being released on bail today, and he was remanded to jail till the technicality is overcome or other bondsmen can be secured.

Six charges of false pretense have been lodged against Proctor and at the habeas corpus hearing before Judge Reppert this afternoon $15,000 bail was required for his temporary release. Arrangements had been made with the Scranton Trust Company to furnish the required security and their representative was present in court prepared to execute the bond, but counsel for the prosecution objected on the grounds mentioned. The objections were sustained by the court and the hearing adjourned until Monday.

FALLS NINETY FEET DOWN A COAL SHAFT

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—W. G. Graves, superintendent of the work of sinking coal shafts for the Miller Coal Company of Portage yesterday with a companion started to descend a 250-foot shaft and when within 50 feet of the bottom the bucket struck a projecting timber and was tilted. Graves being pitched overboard, falling to the bottom of the shaft. He landed in seven feet of water, which saved him from instant death. A bruised ankle and lacerated leg were all his visible injuries. His companion saved himself by catching hold of a timber.

Old State Building Burns.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The old State house, on the abandoned Portage railroad, two miles east of Lilly, was burned to the ground this morning. It was a famous landmark. The building was erected by the state when the Portage railroad began operations three-quarters of a century ago, and was for a long time used as a hotel.

RAILROAD WAR BREAKS OUT.

Three Companies Involved in Trouble Over a Private Switch at Dubois—Use Armed Guards.

DUBOIS, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—An incipient railroad war broke out here today in which three parties will probably figure, before a peace conference is called. The first overt act was perpetrated last night when workmen said to be under the instruction of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad Company pulled up some of the rails of the switch running into A. R. Van Tassel's tannery.

The Pennsylvania yard crew this morning found the switch into the gap. They at that out shoved into the gap. They also found armed guards on the premises, who had instructions to permit no interference. The chief guard admitted he was in the employ of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh company and was carrying out instructions. The situation was reported to the division officers of the Pennsylvania railroad and Roadmaster M. Phalen and Trainmaster D. M. Dunsmore investigated and reported to higher officials.

BONAPARTE SAYS HE IS BUT AN ADVISER IN MARYLAND

Secretary of the Navy Claims State Has No Boss Although Several Have Endeavored to Be the Ruling Power in the Past.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, MD., Aug. 18.—Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte, generally accepted as the new leader of the Republican party in Maryland, stated in an interview today, that he was the adviser and not the boss of the organization in this state.

"I think I can be very fairly called an adviser at the present time," Mr. Bonaparte said, with the suspicion of a smile, "as my position as a member of the national administration obliges me to accept more responsibility for the action of the party in my state, and, therefore, to exert more influence in shaping action than I have ever tried to do as a private citizen.

"I really do not know how far I shall be consulted in regard to patronage outside of my own department of the government. I shall, of course, give advice whenever consulted, and this advice will be given according to my own conscience and best judgment. I shall, however, certainly adhere to the position already referred to as to the employment of Republicans who are not for the Poe amendment which plans to disfranchise the negro.

"The Republican party in Maryland has not now, and never has had, a boss in the sense usually given to the words. There have been several candidates for bossship at different times, but none of them has been able to keep himself long enough in the saddle to gain undisputed control. There are undoubtedly some disadvantages in not having a boss, but in my opinion they are far outweighed by the advantages."

ADDITIONAL SPORTING

STEVENS WINS PLACE IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 18.—Richard Stevens won his place in the final round of the singles here today in the lawn tennis tournament on the turf courts of the Meadow club. He defeated the international veteran, Clarence Hobart, and won a victory over F. G. Anderson, Kings county champion. Both matches were won by the same score, 6-1, 6-2, in straight sets.

The tournament reached its height today as the mixed doubles were begun and yielded an abundance of lively sport. In bringing the men's doubles to a close all but one of the matches for the semi-finals were decided so that Henry Torrance and Theodore Pell, H. F. Allen and F. G. Anderson and William A. Larned and Henry Holt are ready for the finals early in the morning.

In the lower part of the singles Dewhurst, the Pennsylvania and Behr, the Yale champion, have yet to meet for the final round. Both won their matches today in fine style, Dewhurst defeating the Harvard representative, Blagden, and Behr, another wearer of the crimson, Holt. They took the victories in straight sets.

Akron Wins Close Game.

AKRON, O., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Akron won the greatest game of the local season, defeating Niles 1 to 0 in 13 innings. Kemmer's great pitching and timely stick work by Ortleib and Atwood were responsible for the victory. Ortleib scored Duthridge with a two-bagger in the 13th, after Duthridge had reached second on a double. Score:

LOCAL CONCERN MERGED WITH ST. LOUIS COMPANY

Stockholders of a Pittsburgh Bond Company Make Favorable Disposal of Property.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., Aug. 18.—An important consolidation of investment bond companies was completed this week by the absorption of the Pennsylvania Guaranty Company by the National Bond Company of St. Louis. The National is the company promoted by former Governor Lon V. Stephens.

It takes over the Pennsylvania company, which was located at Pittsburgh, and had a capital stock of $200,000, with $150,000 paid in. The latter was started three years ago and has about $1,500,000 worth of business on its books in eastern states, which the National acquires.

The deal was made by an exchange of the Guaranty stock for National stock. To effect this the National increased its capital stock from $150,000 to $250,000, the increase being turned over to the 19 stockholders of the Pittsburgh company. These include Simon Garrison of Pittsburgh, and H. C. Keppler, a coal operator and postmaster of Scranton, Pa., who have been taken into the board of the National directors.

"I'M GOING TO MARRY A STREET CAR CONDUCTOR"

So Said 17-Year-Old Edith Myers As She Disappeared from Wilkinsburg Home.

Telling her younger sister that she was going to marry a street car conductor, 17-year-old Edith Meyers, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Meyers of 502 Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, donned her best clothes Wednesday afternoon, and left home. Nothing has been heard of her since that time.

Every effort has been made by her friends and the Wilkinsburg police to find her, but without success. Her mother is frantic with grief. The girl knew when her mother left home on Wednesday morning that she would not return until the evening.

The Myers family moved to Wilkinsburg from West Virginia a year ago, and it was thought that she might have gone back to her old home. It was stated also that the girl had been under treatment for epilepsy in a West Virginia institution, and it was thought that she had been cured, but her mother has noticed recently symptoms of a returning nervousness.

REMOVE TWO WRECKED CARS.

Only Two Bodies Are Found in the First Car of the Submerged Train at Norfolk—Believe List Is Complete.

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The removal today of the two Atlantic Coast Line cars which plunged into the open draw at Elizabeth river, yesterday afternoon, revealed but two bodies in the first car, making the number of bodies recovered 18, with five persons missing.

A careful examination of the bottom of the river showed no more bodies, and the railroad officials are convinced the death list is complete, though reports are still current of a much heavier loss of life. It is said that in the raising of one of the submerged cars the end of the coach loosened and bodies were washed back into the stream and floated away with the tide.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Ned Hanlon's tail-enders were hosed out of another victory by the Pirates at Washington park, Brooklyn, this afternoon, 2 to 1.

That the locals made Clarke and his assistants play ball there is no doubt. The visitors had to resort to all kinds of strategy to win. What the Buccaneers lacked batting they made up in their fielding, for which the Leever person can be very thankful, notwithstanding he pitched brilliant ball against the bold McIntyre.

Today's game resulted in a pitchers' duel between McIntyre and Pedagogue Leever, both twirlers were touched up for only five hits apiece.

Wagner furnished the fielding sensations by his throwing and stops on hard-hit grounders; every one of his eight chances were difficult. Lewis, the local shortstop, was not far behind the big Teuton in this respect. Wagner's stop of Batch's drive in the sixth inning, with two Brooklynites on the sacks and two out, saved the day for his side. The ball looked good for two bases as it started over second base. Its progress, however, was stopped, after a headlong dive by Wagner and Dobbs was forced at second.

The batting and run-getting honors all belong to Clymer, who made two of Pittsburgh's five hits, one a long triple to left field, and scored both of the visitors' runs.

The first ball McIntyre threw up to Clymer, in Pittsburg's half of the first inning, was laced to left, and on Hall's poor handling of the sphere, Otis reached second safely.

Clarke was retired by Lewis and Gessler, Clymer reaching third on the play. Leach sent a long and high fly to Dobbs in center, which allowed Clymer to romp home easily. Wagner was cheered, as usual, when he made three ineffective swings at McIntyre's benders, closing the inning.

In the second inning the visitors got two hits off McIntyre, but they availed them nothing. In the third, however, Clymer started off by hitting safely to left for three bases. Clarke was disposed of on a high foul back of third. Leach's out at first allowed Clymer to score the winning run. Wagner closed the inning by smashing a hot one to Lewis, who threw him out at first. After this not a visitor reached second base.

The Hanlonites, like Pittsburgh, scored in the opening inning. After Pfeltz had made a good running catch of Dobbs' foul fly, Hall drew a base on balls and reached third on Lumley's drive, from where he scored on Batch's high fly to Clymer. This ended the Brooklyns' run-getting. In the sixth inning they had the Pirates on the anxious seat for a few moments. McIntyre lined to left for a sack and Dobbs followed with a hunt, which he beat out. Leever proceeded to put the screws on, and quickly disposed of both Hall and Lumley on strikes. Batch ended the inning by hitting to Wagner, who made the sensational stop mentioned above, closing the inning. The score:

EGAN AGAIN LOSES

Clingman of Homewood Club Beats Champion—Newton Outclasses Giles, 4 to 2.

H. C. FOWNES, JR., DEFEATED

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—George F. Clingman of the Homewood club furnished a surprise here today, by defeating Walter F. Egan, former western golf champion, 5 up and 3 to play. This follows Chandler Egan's defeat by E. E. Giles yesterday.

The finals for the Exmoor cup will be played tomorrow between Clingman and F. C. Newton of Seattle, Wash.; the latter today defeating E. E. Giles of Pittsburgh, who disposed of H. Chandler Egan yesterday. Giles was outclassed and the Seattle man won an easy contest by 4 up and 2 to play.

Another defeat that caused surprise today was the defeat of H. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh by A. T. Haight of Glenview in the semi-final match for the North Shore cup. The finals in this event will be between Douglas Laird of Canada and Haight.

BRADDOCK IS SHUT OUT BY M'KEESPORT CLUB

JOHNSTOWN WINS TWO FROM HARRISBURG TEAM

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—Through superior stick work Johnstown took both games of a double-header from Harrisburg this afternoon. The Senators had the first game well in hand until the eighth inning, when McConnell's home run with two on bases turned the tables. Leary weakened in that inning and practically allowed the score. In the second game Upp pitched brilliant ball, while McNeely was hit hard. Scores:

After the Pennant.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are after the pennant in dead earnest. They are only a few games behind and none of the players will be happy till they have landed the rag. For this reason a photograph of the entire team is of special interest and valuable to frame for a den or office. The best picture of the team yet taken will be reproduced as a supplement to the Index, Saturday morning, August 19. The picture is 25 inches long and with the Index costs only five cents. Be sure to get a copy early. Last week's big edition was exhausted in a few hours. On sale at all news stands.

THIRD BASEMAN WHO IS COMING TO THE FRONT

WILLIAM LOUDIN.

Loudin is an Allegheny boy. He plays third on the Piedmont (W. Va.) team, which is leading the Cumberland-George Creek league. He leads the league in stolen bases and home runs. His work has attracted the attention of the Baltimore club, which will try him out this fall or next spring.

DENIES CHARGE OF INSOLVENCY

Maryland Rail Company of Cumberland Answers Bill Filed by A. F. Baumgarten.

MAKES A PERSONAL ATTACK

A complete denial of the charges of mismanagement and an attack upon the character of the purpose of the plaintiff are contained in the reply of the Maryland Rail Company of Cumberland to the bill filed by A. F. Baumgarten of Pittsburgh, asking the appointment of a receiver for the Cumberland concern.

The reply takes up every statement made in the petition to the Allegany county (Md.) court. It denies that the company is operating at a loss; says it has working capital sufficient to conduct its business and, while admitting indebtedness to banks, claims that the limit of the concern's credit has not been reached.

It positively denies that its debts are $175,000 or any such sum, and denies the other statement that its assets will not exceed its capital stock, $75,000. It claims that the interest on its $30,000 bond issue has been met when due, and that $25,000 of new stock was applied to improvements and additional working capital.

The accident of July 20, when a flywheel broke, is admitted, but it is stated that the damages to the plant are not so serious as are claimed and that the company is in no danger from losses from personal injury claims, because it can prove that it was not responsible for the accident. It says that $20,000 was paid for the Schonthal plant, and that the plant with the personal property acquired in the deal, is worth the price.

The claim is made that the company is thoroughly solvent, and the allegations of sales of its products at less than cost of production are denied. The latter part of the answer is devoted to an attack upon the intentions of Mr. Baumgarten in filing the suit, the claim being made that his purpose is not to protect his personal interests as a stockholder, but to embarrass the company and the management.

Mr. Baumgarten said last evening in answer to this charge that the management of the company has been continually asking his advice on its important movements and then failing to follow it, with the result that serious losses have taken place. In regard to the allegation that he owed the concern about $1,500, he said that this is the amount claimed on some rails bought by the Union Rail Company of Huntington, W. Va., from the Maryland Rail Company, which proved defective and for which the Union company is refusing to pay.

GIDEONS TO LEAD SERVICE.

Organization of Commercial Travelers in Charge at Arch Street M. E. Church Tomorrow.

The Gideon band, an organization of Christian commercial travelers, will conduct services tomorrow morning in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church. The organization is international and does much missionary work in this section. The services of the band are unique and impressive.

The corner stone of the new Methodist Episcopal church at Beechwood will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. W. H. H. Rees of the Smithfield Street church will be in charge of the services and will deliver the principal address. Neighboring pastors are also on the program and special music will be provided. The Rev. J. M. Pascoe is pastor of the congregation.

Miss Williams of London, Eng., a woman preacher, will occupy the pulpit of the Chatham Street Welsh Baptist church tomorrow morning and evening. Miss Williams is a regularly enrolled minister in the Welsh Baptist church and discusses religion in both English and Welsh.

The Rev. Robert J. Pilgram of Baltimore, who formerly resided in Braddock, will occupy the pulpit of the Reformed Church of the Ascension, Termon avenue, Allegheny, tomorrow morning.

MORE TROUBLE FOR HALL.

Must Answer in Allegheny to a Charge of Horse Stealing.

Detective Leon Einstein of Allegheny yesterday afternoon, by an order of court, took Howard Hall from the county jail and locked him up in the North Side Central station for a hearing this morning before Alderman Abernathey, on a charge of horse stealing, preferred by A. Eisman, a liveryman of Montgomery avenue, West, Allegheny.

Hall was arrested last Sunday afternoon by the Pittsburgh police on suspicion of having robbed the jewelry store of Graff & Nieman, and the confectionery establishment of George McDonald on Sixth street. He was sent to jail for court Monday morning by Magistrate Moke, for robbing the stores named.

Hall and his brother, Clarence, on July 8, hired a horse and buggy from Eisman, claiming they were cigar agents, and sold the rig in Steubenville, O.

TO HAVE COUNTY FAIR.

Finley Township Farmers Organize and Have Fine Property.

Farmers of Finley township to the number of 100 have organized what is to be known as the Allegheny County Agricultural association and are now seeking a charter through Attorneys Thomas & Meals of this city.

The purpose of the organization is to revive the old-time county fair in Finley township. The organization has already secured a 10-year lease on a 100-acre tract which has been inclosed and which is being supplied with improvements and permanent buildings. Already $15,000 has been raised for this purpose. The first fair will be held next month, beginning September 19 and continuing one week. A racetrack is being laid out, and all other appurtenances necessary to conduct a country fair are promised by opening day.

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE HAMILTON FLINN of Fifth avenue will sail for Europe on Tuesday of next week and will remain abroad for five weeks. Former Senator William Flinn, his two daughters, Miss Mary Flinn and Miss Edith Flinn, and Rex Flinn, will leave the other side on the same day, expecting to reach New York the following Sunday or Monday. They have been abroad since the early part of July, and have visited the principal points of interest in France, England, Holland and Switzerland. They were last heard from in London. During September the two young ladies will return to Briar Cliff, the fashionable eastern school so popular with Pittsburgh's daughters. Rex Flinn will resume his studies at Yale, where he will finish next June. Ralph Flinn, another member of the family, sailed last Saturday on the Minnehaha. He will remain abroad only a short time, visiting England and Switzerland.

Interesting Oakmont Engagement.

Another interesting engagement which has been whispered of for some time was formally announced yesterday at the luncheon given by Mrs. Clarence Van Dyke Tiers at the Oakmont Country club. The engagement is that of Miss Susan Vallante Tiers, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Tiers of Oakmont and a sister-in-law of the hostess, to Dr. William Herron Cameron of Lawrenceille, this city. The wedding will be an event of the winter. The luncheon yesterday, which was preceded by six-hand euchre, had been planned in honor of Miss Tiers and Miss Susan Paul, a sister of the hostess, whose engagement to Robert Bauersmith is a recent announcement. Covers were laid for 12, the guests including Miss Paul and Miss Tiers, Miss Mary Lee Paul, Miss Nan Tiers, Miss Bess Tiers, Miss Emma Johnston, Miss Helen Hamilton, Miss Susan Collier, Miss Marion Hunter, Miss Grace Runnette of the East End, and Mrs. William Hepburn Tinsman. American Beauty roses formed very effective decorations.

Family Party at the Shore.

A family party enjoying sea breezes includes Leopold Vilsack, his daughter and sons, Miss Katrine Vilsack, Morris Vilsack and Karl Vilsack of Liberty avenue, East End. The four have been in Atlantic City for almost a week and will not return until the conclusion of a four weeks' visit.

Returning from Saegertown.

Mrs. Henry D. Sellers of Wightman street, Squirrel Hill, is expected home today from Saegertown, Pa., where she and Miss Effie King have been spending a month. Fletcher Collins, whose engagement to Mrs. Sellers' daughter, Miss Elizabeth Sellers, was recently announced, will be home from Miamisport in about a week. He has been with his mother, Mrs. Henry Eaton Collins of Dallas avenue, who will also return to Pittsburgh within a week.

Girls Are Only Passengers.

A party of young women from the East End, nearly all of them Pennsylvania College girls, are making the lake trip on the Francis L. Robbins, one of the ore boats. They left Ashtabula last Wednesday a week and will return to Pittsburgh on Monday. In the party are Miss Anne Houston, Miss Elsie Braun, Miss Rose Moore, Miss Margaret McClelland and Miss Jane Miller. The girls have taken complete possession of the boat, as they are the only passengers aboard. They have made flying over visits in Detroit, Duluth and several other cities along the route.

Will Visit Daughter in Mexico.

John H. Mueller of Dithridge street, Bellefield, expects to go to Mexico during the fall to visit his daughter, Mrs. Robert Wilson Bissell. Mrs. Bissell was Miss Gertrude Mueller, a bride of last June, since when she has been living in a mining camp in Mexico. Mr. Bissell is manager of a Mexican mining company. Miss Beulah Mueller, who has been spending the summer at Lake Chautauqua, will not be home for several weeks.

For Benefit of Hospital.

The chairmen of the various entertainment committees recently chosen by the women's auxiliary of the Sewickley hospital committee met yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. W. G. Muzzy, Broad street, Sewickley, and organized to complete arrangements for the entertainment to be given Thursday and Friday, September 14 and 15. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the benefit of the hospital.

Pittsburghers on the Go.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hamilton of the Hotel Schenley are spending a month in New York city and at Saratoga. They will go to the latter place in time for the races in September.

William Fleming Aile, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sherrick and Mrs. Daniel Coyle, who were at Temagami, Canada, are at Rose Point, Muskoka lake, for the remainder of the month.

To Spend Month in Conneaut.

Miss Helen Sands of Roup street, East End, will leave in the middle of next month to spend a month in Conneaut. Upon her return to the city Miss Sands, who is a daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sands, will complete arrangements for her marriage to Dr. Herbert Perry of Drane, Tex., which is to be a fall event.

Notes of Society.

Miss Frances Atkinson Abbott of St. Clair terrace, Allegheny, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Rowa of Newport, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Langfitt and J. A. Langfitt, Jr., will spend the remainder of the summer at the Grand hotel, Mackinac Island, Mich.

Miss Alice Phillip and Miss Margaret Phillip have returned from Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and Wilkesbarre, where they attended a convention of the John G. Beane Tourist club.

Mrs. A. M. Andrews and J. P. Andrews, Jr., will leave this evening to join Mrs. Alexander P. Moore and Miss Mildred Andrews, who are spending the summer at the Marlborough house, Atlantic City.

Miss Charlotte Arnold of Oakmont gave a picnic yesterday afternoon at Elm Grove in honor of her cousin, Miss Moore, of Altoona. About 25 couples attended, most of whom were from Wilkinsburg.

Doings at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Mayor Stoy led one of the most attractive turnouts ever seen on the boardwalk this afternoon when he headed a line of children in fancy dress who paraded to the Royal Palace casino, where a children's carnival was given in aid of the children's ward of the Seashore Home. A program of marches and dances was followed by awarding a doll named by Miss Roosevelt, wife of the president, to a Philadelphia youngster, who successfully guessed the doll's name.

A half dozen young men who said they were Pittsburghers, but refused to give their names, made a stir on the boardwalk this afternoon when they snatched a bunch of 100 toy balloons from an itinerant vendor and set the spheres floating loose. The balloon seller started row that was quickly quelled when the roystering blades paid him a quarter apiece for his stolen stock.

Mrs. D. M. Campsey, Miss S. Campsey and Mrs. C. P. Stewart of Pittsburgh are spending several days at the St. Clare.

Miss Mae Speyer and Mrs. J. F. Garlick are visiting Mrs. Emma Ostrander of Pittsburgh at the Albemarle. Miss E. Louise Read and Miss Flora K. Read of Pittsburgh are enjoying seashore life at the same hotel.

W. J. White, Mrs. White, Miss Isabel White, Miss Kathryn White and Miss Agnes Carr, who is the guest of the Misses White, are at the Jackson.

Mrs. R. E. Stoney of Pittsburgh, who was at the seaside early in the season, has returned from her home for an extended visit at the same hotel.

Miss Anna M. Beach and Miss Mary E. Beach of Pittsburgh left last night for Washington.

Ralph Hazlett, Howard Ford and F. J. McCann of Allegheny are registered at the Albemarle.

D. H. Turner, a well-known hotel man of Johnstown, is at the Jackson with Mrs. Turner. D. A. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Chambers and Miss M. E. Aubrey, Charles C. Shannan, Mrs. Shannahan and little Miss Margaretta Shanahan, make up a family party of Pittsburghers at the Jackson.

SAMMOS TO MANAGE NEW BELASCO THEATER

George W. Sammos will be the resident manager of the new Belasco theater. This announcement was made yesterday by J. A. McArty, resident representative for the Shubert interests. Mr. Sammos is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh next week to take charge of his work. He was formerly identified with the Frohmans.

Among the Clubs.

London Children Sent to Country.

Fresh air excursions and homes have become so general a philanthropy in this country that it is interesting to know what is being accomplished in this direction in England. The children's country holidays fund in London is maintained in order to send the poorest of the city children to the country for a fortnight. Last year the public enabled the fund to send over 39,000 children, and this year still more are asking for the holiday. For the last six months they have saved their pennies, their mothers have equipped them with the simple outfit required, they have been inspected by trained nurses and doctors and the first large party was taken in July. August 10 over 18,000 were waiting to go, that number requiring a fund of $25,000. The earl of Arran is the treasurer of the fund. Five dollars will send two children to the country for a fortnight.

Extending Mothers' Congress.

The active campaign to extend the work of the National Congress of Mothers was inaugurated yesterday with a public meeting in Portland, Ore. This open meeting will be followed by meetings throughout the cities of the west and middle states, which will be addressed by the officers of the national congress. The purpose of the campaign is to extend the work of the congress in seven new states and to inaugurate it in those whose women have not yet taken it up. The meeting in Portland yesterday was for the purpose of organizing the workers and the discussion of juvenile court methods, the anti-Mormon movement, child study, the care of defective children and the co-operation of home and school. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Home Training association of Portland, and among the speakers were Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the National congress, and Mrs. Edwin C. Grice, the national secretary.

Preparing Its Year Book.

The Pittsburgh Whist league is preparing its year book which will be issued early in September. The league, however, will not resume its meetings until October 1. Nearly all of the officers, including the president, Mrs. Robert Cunningham of Sewickley, are still away from home and do not expect to return until next month. Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, the former president, has been spending the summer at Spring Lake.

Outing for the Children.

The Young Woman's Mission circle of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church will give a picnic this afternoon at Waterworks park for 50 poor children of the Lawrenceville district. The little folk will be brought to Sewickley in charge of deaconesses, and are to be entertained with games and amusements of all sorts, ending with a big dinner. Fifty young women of the circle will help with the entertaining. A special car will bring the little guests to the valley and carry them home.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The day was ideal for the hay ride given by the Kindergarten teachers for about hundred of the little pupils who enjoyed the morning's ride in the country. The kindergarten closed today.

The last meeting of the season was held by the Woman's club this morning, when the annual election of officers took place. The president, Mrs. B. T. Vincent of Golden, Col., is appointed by the assembly authorities. She would also be the unanimous choice of the members, as she has endeared herself to all by her gentle tact and unusual ability. The results of the election were as follows: Vice presidents, Mrs. N. T. Arnold of Ridgeway, Pa.; Mrs. Percy Pennybacker of Austin, Tex.; Mrs. E. D. Pinkerton of Ormond, Fla.; Mrs. E. A. Gaither of Westfield, N. Y., and Miss Adams of Lynn, Mass.; for secretary, Mrs. Alice B. Wiles of Chicago, Ill.; for treasurer, Mrs. Lucy Belknap of Louisville, Ky.

The membership of 1905 is 382, the largest in the history of the club.

At the open meeting of the National Reporters association Mrs. Oliver Dyer of Massachusetts, which is 91 years old, gave an interesting talk reminiscent of the early days of shorthand. Frederick Ireland, the official reporter of congress at the present time, gave a display of remarkable skill when he wrote from dictation 250 words in a minute. Charles Carroll Soule of Boston, president of the association, gave an illustrated lecture in the evening on "Shorthand Practically and Historically Considered."

Bishop Vincent conducted the last devotional hour of the week, giving an impressive talk on "The Life of Service." The annual gymnastic exhibition was enjoyed by a large audience, and showed remarkable results achieved in six weeks' time. An audience of 5,000 listened to Dr. Samuel C. Schmucker's last lecture on the general subject of evolution, which was "An Evolutionist's Faith."

The annual meeting of the Chautauqua Athletic club was held in the clubhouse this evening. The two four-oared races on this end of the lake between the crews of Chadokin club of Jamestown and the Chautauqua Athletic club were won by the former. The Theodore E. Miller trophy with thus return to the lower end of the lake. During the past two years it has been held here. Great interest was taken in the annual illuminated fleet, which was prettier, if possible, than in former years.

BURNS WELL PLEASED.

Window Glass Workers' Leader Returns With the Agreement With Independent Manufacturers.

President Simon Burns of Window Glass Workers' local assembly 300 of Pittsburgh returned to this city yesterday morning, pleased with the outcome of the Columbus conference of the independent window glass manufacturers. In competition with the Faulkner organization Mr. Burns secured the signatures of the manufacturers to the scale offered by his organization.

"I am well satisfied with the outcome of the meeting," he said. "When the time comes for the men to go to work there will be plenty of them to do so."

The scale provides for the wages varying with the price of glass, and for the payment by the men of dues to the Burns organization.

Still Establishing Precedents.

Magistrate George A. Moke established another precedent in police court practice yesterday when he fined Alice Wilson $5 and costs or 10 days in jail on her own testimony. An officer charged her with disorderly conduct. The woman testified that her husband asked her to go somewhere and she objected. The husband was not present and no evidence was taken as to whether the place was an improper one or that any law had been violated.

SLIGHT RISE IN MONEY, SHARP REACTION IN STOCKS

Prices Closed Near the Lowest of the Day, U. S. Steel Preferred and Union Pacific Leading the Decline—Local Securities Dull

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a rather sharp reaction in the New York stock market yesterday, and there was a moderate falling off in the volume of transactions. After a continuous advance for weeks, accompanied during the past few days by symptoms of rampant bull speculation, it was natural to look for a reaction on general principles, but Wall street was inclined to ascribe the change in tone to the slight rise in call loan rates and to the reports from Portsmouth that the crisis had been reached in the peace negotiations. Call loans were quoted as high as 2½ per cent, and two of the largest banks were reported to be calling loans freely. This merely increased the reactionary tendency. Closing prices were at or near the lowest, but considering the previous advance the net loss was insignificant.

At the opening there was considerable irregularity. St. Paul was strong and higher, and Reading made a new high record by selling at 113⅜. Then a flood of liquidation appeared and prices sold off 1 to 1½ per cent. Union Pacific and Steel preferred, which had been the leaders on Thursday, led the decline. At the lower range there was a fair absorption of stocks, and then the trading relapsed into comparative dullness. In the early part of the afternoon there was a partial recovery, but in the final dealings prices again gave way and closed at losses ranging from ⅛ to 2 per cent.

United States Steel preferred sold off to and closed at 104, a net loss of 1½ per cent. The common lost ¾ per cent. While these stocks were declining American Locomotive common made a spurt, reaching 56¾, but it subsequently broke to 53⅛, and closed at 54, a loss for the day of 1½ per cent. Declines in the minor iron and steel shares were less important, and Colorado Fuel and Iron closed at an advance of ⅝ per cent. Amalgamated Copper closed ⅝ per cent lower, although the copper market was again reported very strong, both at home and abroad, sales being reported privately at 15½ cents a pound. This is full a cent a pound above the average price realized last year by the leading producers, and certainly represents a handsome margin of profit over last year. There does not appear to be as yet an excess of production over consumption, but the high average price is certain to stimulate the opening of new mines and the pushing to the utmost capacity of those now producing.

Pennsylvania was an exception to the general market, and on very large transactions advanced to 146½, closing at 145¾, a net advance over Thursday of ¼ per cent. Reading also closed ½ per cent higher. Baltimore & Ohio closed ½ per cent lower, and Erie ⅝ lower.

Foreign markets were reported dull and irregular, although London professed the utmost confidence in a satisfactory conclusion of the peace conference, and English consols closed slightly higher. Commodity markets were active and weak for wheat and cotton, but closed slightly higher for corn.

The preliminary estimates of the movement of currency for the week indicated a loss of $3,500,000 cash in today's bank statement. However, it will depend upon the loan item as to whether there is any important change in surplus reserve. If there is a large decrease in loans, the surplus reserve may remain unchanged, but such reduction in loans, in view of the increase in speculation, might reasonably be construed as reflecting sales of securities by the banks, since the item of loans in the bank statement includes stocks and bonds held, and prices of the latter, not to speak of probable increased currency requirements, have certainly been an inducement to take profits.

The local stock market was at a standstill most of the day, and the tone was heavy. In the regular list Crucible Steel and American Sewer Pipe were the only active stocks. Crucible common declined to 12½ and the preferred to 64½, and both closed at the lowest prices. Sewer Pipe declined to and closed at 34½. The selling of the stock came from out-of-town sources. National Fire Proofing sold at 58⅜, while the preferred declined to and closed at 20½. There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common and the preferred declined to 52¾, closing at the lowest. River Coal preferred was nominally quoted at 2½ bid, 25 asked. The Brewing stocks were extremely dull and closed unchanged. Standard Underground Cable sold at 20, which was unchanged from the last previous sale. Westinghouse Air Brake was the strongest stock, and after selling at 148½ to 149 closed at 149¼ bid, 150 asked. There were no sales of Electric and the market closed at 85½ bid, 85⅝ asked. Tonopah Extension was active at the uniform price of $6, a decline of 10 cents a share. Shipments from the mine were suspended this week on account of the changing of the gauge of the Tonopah railroad, but they will be resumed on Tuesday. Small lots of Second National bank sold at 765 and 770, the highest of the year. Iron City Trust was unchanged at 125 and Real Estate Trust at 233.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Bleached goods started another upward movement in the drygoods market today, when prominent lines were moved up ¼c per yard. Buyers consider prices on all cotton goods have gone too high. Today they confined purchases to small lots for immediate use. Prints were again in heavy demand; stocks at first hands are exhausted. Cotton yarns of lower and medium counts are advancing, despite the easier quotations for cotton.

FEATURES OF THE DAY-

IN PITTSBURGH	IN WALL STREET
Stock market neglected and closed slightly lower.	Call loans advanced a fraction and stocks reacted.
Air Brake was an exception, advancing to and closing at 149½ bid.	Sales included 908,300 shares stock and $3,850,000 bonds.
Crucible common declined to 12½ and the preferred to 64½.	High-grade railroad stocks scored the largest losses.
United Copper and Tonopah Extension closed fractionally lower.	Steel preferred declined to and closed at 104.
Second National Bank advanced $20 to $770 a share.	Pennsylvania and Reading the only stocks to close higher.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The reaction in the New York stock market yesterday was by no means unexpected, and after the close of the market commission house brokers were almost as bullish as ever. It cannot be said that the news, or rather lack of news, from Portsmouth had any particular effect, except to increase the dullness of the foreign markets. In New York Japanese bonds were again very active, the sales of all issues reaching nearly $1,000,000. The 4½s opened lower at 90½, but recovered to 90¾. The first series 6s closed ½ per cent higher at 101¾, after opening at 101. The second series 6s closed ⅛ higher at 100, and the second series 4½s closed unchanged. The fluctuations did not reflect any uneasiness in Wall street over the outcome of the peace negotiations. If there were any real apprehension that the war would be indemnitely continued, these Japanese bond issues would not now be holding firm at the advance.

The local market continues distressingly dull. At times yesterday it came to a standstill, and the exchange was almost entirely deserted. There is no easy explanation for the state of affairs. Pittsburgh lacks confidence in the mass of stocks heretofore popular in the local market, and in addition to this the loss in dividends and the depreciation in market value has an actual and sentimental effect in deterring new operations in the market.

Numerous small lots of Real Estate Trust that have recently come upon the market have been absorbed at 232, one broker seeming to have the bulk of the buying orders at that figure. Iron City Trust sold unchanged at 125, and 25 shares Second National bank sold at 765 and 770, the latter the highest price of the year. There is practically no doubt that the Second National's stockholders will approve the plan for converting $1,250,000 of the surplus into capital stock, and when the increased number of shares come upon the market there is likely to be greater activity in the stock.

Westinghouse Air Brake closed a dollar a share higher at 149½ bid. This was the only important change in the local list, and the only advance worth noting. The rest of the market closed unchanged or fractionally lower.

For the June quarter the net earnings of Ontario & Western increased $125,529.

Gross earnings of Wabash for the second week in August decreased $31,827.

Gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the second week in August increased $10,992.

Gross earnings of Canadian Pacific for the second week increased $53,000, and Denver & Rio Grande increased $75,000.

The United States Steel Corporation's net earnings for the first six weeks of the present quarter are estimated by an official at $17,560,000 —divided into $11,500,000 for the month of July and $6,500,000 for the first two weeks of August. In the entire third quarter last year the total net earnings of the corporation were $18,778,902. Thus the estimate for the first six weeks of this quarter are within $1,218,902 of the total net in the three months of July, August and September, 1904. Last year's third quarter earnings by months were as follows:

July	$ 5,344,771
August	6,202,927
September	6,226,204
Total	$18,773,902

At the close of this quarter the corporation will probably show 2,000,000 tons more of unfilled orders on the books than at the corresponding time last year. On September 30, last year, the orders were 3,627,476 tons, as against 5,728,742 tons on September 30, 1903, and 4,843,007 tons on September 30, 1902. This quarter's unfilled orders will exceed 6,000,000 tons, which will be a new high record for the quarter and they may make a new high record. They may go as high as $5,800,000 tons.

The preliminary estimates of the currency movement for the week indicating a loss to the interior of something over $4,000,000, was the predominant influence on the market, especially as the sub-treasury has absorbed from the banks in addition some $1,647,000. Part of the latter item is due to payment of drafts by interior banks on their New York correspondents for the payment of internal revenue collections, and represents indirectly the growing requirement of the interior for funds.

It is understood that Union Pacific sold some of its Great Northern and Northern Pacific months ago, but as it owned originally $72,000,000 Northern securities and as probably not more than the equivalent of $40,000,000 par value of this was sold the Harriman property still have approximately $21,000,000 Great Northern and $28,000,000 Northern Pacific. At 317, Wednesday's high price for Great Northern, and 213 for Northern Pacific the value of the former would be $66,570,000 and of the latter $59,640,000, making a total of $126,210,000 for the equivalent of $76,000,000 Northern Securities, which a couple of years ago sold for less than par. It should always be borne in mind, however, that dividends are not paid out of "paper profits," that is out of enhancement in market value.

One of the rumors of the day was that Southern Pacific contemplated a new issue of bonds. There was no official sanction for the rumor.

The renewal of the dispute over freight rates between the coast and gulf lines was a disturbing factor upon sentiment and the outbreak of yellow fever at new points in the south was also disliked.

Four Boston-controlled electric traction properties in Indiana and Ohio are believed to have been sold to the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia. The properties involved are the Indianapolis & Northwestern Traction Company, the Indianapolis & Western, the Columbus, Buckeye Lake & Newark and the Columbus, Newark & Zanesville roads, all of which were built, financed and managed by Tucker, Anthony & Co. of Boston. The information that these properties have been sold comes from large stockholders, who have agreed to turn over their stock.

United States government 2s advanced ⅛, the old is ⅝ and the new 4s ⅛ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

BUILDING BOOM IS KEEPING UP

Buyers in Beechwood Plan, West Liberty, Are Preparing to Improve Properties.

DOWNTOWN DEAL FOR $30,000

While the real estate market has almost come to a standstill because of the absence from the city of financial men, people who have taken title to property during the past months are using the present good weather to get improvements on their new holdings under way. The prominent builders report considerable work on their books, and from different sections of the county reports of activity in smaller buildings and residences are heard daily.

Some of the big lot plans are showing much improvement in the building line, and it is probable before the cold weather arrives many buildings being erected for business purposes and dwellings will have been completed and ready for occupancy. One of the most noticeable of the plans near Pittsburgh on which big improvements are under way is in the Beechwood plan in West Liberty borough, reached by the tunnel line.

Plans are being drawn for business houses and residences in that district for investors who have taken up property since the plan was opened, and it is estimated that the new buildings now under way and those which will soon be started will involve a total outlay of over $200,000. Other plans in West Liberty are also moving, the grading being done and much machinery for excavating is being taken to that section.

Move Big Steam Shovel.

Early yesterday morning a big steam shovel was moved from Squirrel Hill to Brookline. The big machine was drawn through the downtown streets by 16 horses, which were hitched four abreast, and caused the people who happened to be on the streets to stop and look, as the sight of so many horses drawing one load is rapidly becoming a thing of the past during daylight in Pittsburgh, because of the great crowds of people and wagons which congest the streets of the city in day time.

C. E. Burkhardt of the Federal Stone Company has disposed of his realty in lower Eighth street for $39,000. The deal was made for Mr. Burkhardt by John D. Fitzgibbon and John D. Steiner of the Real Estate Corporation, who sold the property to Harry Davis. The lot measures 18¾ feet in Eighth street, near Duquesne way, and has a depth of 94 feet, making the price for a foot front $1,000. The lot is improved with a three-story brick building, which is used for business purposes.

In the Beechwood plan three new business buildings will soon be started, and they will cost a total of $36,000. P. J. Boylan is having plans prepared for the erection of a three-story buff brick building to cost $26,000. The building will be erected on a lot 50x120 feet in Broadway, where Mr. Boylan recently purchased. The building will contain two large store rooms on the first floor, while the two upper stories will be arranged for up-to-date apartments. There will be four apartments, each containing six rooms and bath, and they will rent for about $25 a month each.

More Stores for Beechwood.

W. L. Smith is also arranging to have built a three-story buff brick building on a lot measuring 60x150 feet. The building will also contain two storerooms and four apartments, and will be erected at Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh avenue, Beechwood, and will cost $18,000. J. R. Kelliher of the Thirty-ninth ward is getting ready to build a three-story storeroom and flat building to cost $12,000 at Broadway and Lowen avenue, Beechwood. Over 40 dwellings in the Beechwood plan have been contracted for and will cost from $2,500 to $6,000 each.

The property at the southeast corner of Webster avenue and Roberts street, which was recently purchased by Edward J. Kretz through W. J. Tener & Co. for $3,200, is to be improved with a store and dwelling building, which it is said will be finer than any building of its kind in that neighborhood. The building, which will be a three-story brick, will be erected on a lot measuring 28x30 feet and will cost $15,000.

Improved property in Herron avenue, near Center avenue, Thirteenth ward, changed hands yesterday, the buyer being R. C. Morgan, who paid $7,000 cash. The deal was handled by the Aronson Realty Company for Peter Nolan, the seller. The lot fronts 62 feet in Herron avenue and has two buildings, one containing a storeroom and seven living rooms, and the other nine rooms and bath. The property rents for $900 a year, and was bought for investment.

The same brokers have also become agents for an estate owning property in Forbes street, Center avenue and in the suburbs.

Ernest Bradshaw has purchased 20x166 feet, improved with a dwelling, in Susquehanna street, Twenty-first ward, from Isabella Alexander for $5,300.

OUT-OF-TOWN DEALERS ARE THE HEAVY BUYERS

Railroads and River Carry the Goods of Local Merchants to Suburban Buyers.

So far as price changes are concerned, yesterday was a day of general apathy in the local markets. Dealers along the street were all busy with out-of-town shipments. The wagons were kept busy all day hauling to the railway station, while the Morgantown packet went out loaded to the guards with fruit and produce of every kind, intended for Monongahela valley merchants.

The general trend of the markets is toward lower prices, but it is chiefly due to the abundant supply, which is now assured by the advance of the summer and the gathering of the harvests. Apples are a fair crop in this section this year, and no scarcity is looked for in that line. The most disappointing line is potatoes, which fail to drop as rapidly as they should. There have been serious failures of the potato crop and high prices are looked for this fall.

The flour market continues dull, with flour much weaker than it was, owing to the drop in wheat yesterday. A cut of 5 or 10 cents a barrel would be proper under the circumstances, as heavy shading is being indulged to secure trade. Sugar is about the same as it was, with dealers refusing to hazard any decided opinion concerning it.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania—Five cars hay, one car corn, 17 cars oats. B. & O.—Five cars hay, one car corn., Lake Erie—One car oats, one car hay.

There was no change in quotations in any line yesterday. Oats are still selling below laydown cost, but a little better tone is indicated, and dealers are looking for a decided advance. Corn is scarce and receipts are readily taken up. Choice hay, particularly clover, is in demand.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points under scattering liquidation, promoted by somewhat disappointing cables and a desire to take recently accumulated profits. A moderate demand developed at the decline, and the market during the middle session ruled generally steady, with prices only a partial fe lower, but later offerings increased somewhat, and the close was steady, unchanged on August and 5@10 points lower on other positions. The weather in Brazil was reported warmer, and receipts at the ports were heavier. Sales were reported of 47,500 bags, including September, at 7.20@7.30c; December, 7.55@7.60c; January, 7.60@7.70c; March, 7.50c; May, 7.65c; July, 7.85c. Spot Rio steady; No. 7 invoice, 7½c; mild steady; Cordova, 10@12c. Sugar—Raw nasettled; fair refining, 3 7-16c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 1-16@4¼c; molasses sugar, 3 3-16@3¼c; refined steady.

Clearing Weather in the Northwest Eliminates the Speculative Interest.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Clearing weather in the northwest eliminated speculative interest in wheat and left the market dull and easy. September closed 1¾c down. September corn is up ¾c. Oats are off a shade. Provisions closed 2½@12½c lower.

An early indication of weakness in northwestern markets was reflected here by an initial decline in September wheat of ¾@⅞c to 1@1¼c at 87¾c to 87½c. A period of selling at the outset forced the near options still further down the scale. Rains in the spring wheat districts having seemingly been responsible for the recent advance, its cessation was the signal for a return of bearish sentiment. Traders who had been led into buying by former conditions proceeded to liquidate their holdings. Prospects of heavier receipts in the southwest likewise exerted an influence toward lower prices. September declined to 87½c, and although some short lines were covered at that figure, the market acquired no buoyancy. The close was easy, with September a shade above the lowest point at 87½@87¾c. Bradstreet's exports of wheat and flour for the week were 1,560,000 bushels against 1,762,000 bushels for the corresponding week last year. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 71,000 bushels, compared with 454,000 bushels for five days last year. Primary receipts were 695,000 bushels, against 781,000 bushels made a year ago. Armour-Cudahy-Dold Chicago reported receipts of 263 cars, against 365 cars last week and 125 cars a year ago.

A good demand for corn for export was the maintaining influence in the market for that cereal. Initial prices were easier under scattered selling by small longs, and were soon followed by a large line of old crop September by a prominent commission house brought out a mild reverse of sentiment and sold

Low Average of Producing Wells Is Affecting Runs and Shipments

Development work in the lower southwest fields is falling to a lower stage than at any time in the past 10 years. The falling off in operations and the very low average of the new producing wells is having a telling effect on the shipments and runs from that district. But for the work backed by the gas companies there would be a greater decline in the report of operations in the various fields. While very few of the wells completed fail to find gas in some quantities, very few find oil in paying quantities. On Isaacs Fork, Freemans Creek district, Lewis county, the Philadelphia Company has drilled its test on the Marshal J. Woofter farm into the Gordon sand and has a very good number. A few days ago the same company, in the same locality, completed good gassers in the same formation on the William Woofter and Michael Riley farms.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the C. Bailey farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 2,500 feet with fluid. In the same district the same company has shot its No. 4 on the W. A. Ridgeway farm and it responded by producing barrels the first 24 hours. When first drilled through the Gordon it showed very little oil. On Ann Moore run, Clark district, the Grasselli Oil Company is due in the sand at a test on the Park coal tract. On the same stream and in the same district the Charleston Light and Heat Company is down 900 feet on a test on the John Stout farm.

In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 3 on the A. P. Johnson farm into the Gordon and has developed no oil or gas. In the same district the same company has drilled No. 2 on the C. P. Jackson farm through the Gordon and has found no oil or gas. In the Smithfield district, same county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 17 on the B. W. Patterson farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 100 feet with oil. It will be very light. In the Fairview district, Monongalia county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled No. 1 on the Haught-Walker farm deep into the fifth sand and has developed no oil or gas. In the same district, on Days run, the Fisher Oil Company is down 1,500 feet at a second test on the Cobler Ammons farm.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Pure Oil Producing Company has completed its No. 16 on the E. M. Palmer farm and will have an eight or 10 barrel pumper in the shallow sand. In the same district the same company has completed its No. 15 on the M. C. Woodruff farm and has a duster. The same company has drilled its No. 15 on the L. M. Thornberry farm through the shallow sand and has a show for a five-barrel pumper.

In the Plum Run district, Harrison county, Alexander & Stoughton have completed No. 4 on the T. F. Price farm and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Boren grit.

CLUB'S CHARTER IS IN DANGER

Homestead Council After Belvidere Organization, Which Is Declared Nuisance.

UGLY CHARGES ARE MADE

A rule was granted in common pleas court No. 1 on the Belvedere club of McClure avenue, Homestead, to show cause why its charter should not be revoked. F. H. McGuire, solicitor for the borough, by order of the borough council, presented a petition based on a sworn communication from Mrs. Susannah Gibson, who lives next door to the club. She states that boys got liquor there, that visitors use vile and profane language, and that the club is a nuisance in the neighborhood.

Arguments were heard by Judge E. A. Evans yesterday on the exceptions filed to the bond of the Pennsylvania railroad in the proceedings for condemnation of the Tibby Bros. Glass Company property in Sharpsburg. The railroad filed a bond for $50,000. The glass company wanted this increased to $500,000. Judge Evans fixed the amount at $200,000 and dismissed the other exceptions.

A bill in equity has been filed by William Minteer against E. M. Brickell and John Bader to restrain them from using a bond and mortgage to divest him of the title to a triangular piece of ground in the Twenty-first ward. Minteer claims that he bought it, across from the defendants, paying $150 cash, and giving a bond for $77,500. After he had sold a number of lots he says he made an agreement with them under which he was to return all the land except this triangular piece and they were to surrender the mortgage. He alleges they will not carry out this agreement.

A divorce was refused by Judge James S. Young yesterday in the suit of Winfield L. Kelly of Homestead against Margaret Kelly. The claim was made by Kelly that his wife deceived him as to the paternity of twins. Judge Young says that though Mrs. Kelly may have falsely assured her husband that the children were his, if he chose to rely on that assurance he must bear it as a misfortune. A decree was granted in the case of Verena Stiffen against C. J. Stiffen on the grounds of cruelty.

Thirteen Children Are Released.

Judge J. A. Evans had 15 children before him in juvenile court, nearly all charged with being incorrigible. All were returned to their parents but Edward Strong, aged 13, of

FREIGHT RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN

Greatest Tonnage Movement in History of Local Lines—Congestion Not Feared.

MR. PITCAIRN DENIES RUMORS

That the month of August will witness the establishment of a record for the greatest freight movement in any one month in the history of railroading in the Pittsburgh district is the opinion of the officers of the roads here. These officers take this view because of the high tonnage figures for the first half of the month. The average daily figures on all lines for the first half of August show a heavier movement in products handled by the lines here than for any other month of high record, eclipsing the month of last May, which was the high record month up to this time in Pittsburgh transportation annals. August is usually a light month.

The Pennsylvania system is handling daily over its terminal lines an interchange exceeding the interchange movement of last May, when the average daily movement was about 6,000 cars. This is something stupendous, something that the lay mind cannot grasp in its immensity except in a meager way. The Baltimore & Ohio's record for this month so far is in excess of all former records. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie's lines are kept humming with a record-breaking movement. The Delaware & Lake Erie will smash all former records unless a check comes on the enormous movement. The Wabash is gaining ground daily and will establish a new record in its hold upon Pittsburgh traffic. The outlook is that this traffic will continue as heavy on through the fall.

"The figures to the present time," said General Agent H. A. Jaggard of the Pennsylvania system, "averaged to a daily basis, indicate that a new record in interchange is to be established for the Pennsylvania system. Up to the present in August the average movement has been the heaviest in the history of the Pennsylvania system in the Pittsburgh district. It supersedes the record of last May, which was the highest record month. The traffic is moving freely and there need be no fear of freight congestion. The Pittsburgh railroad men know how to handle freight through the terminals and to send it speeding out over the lines."

"Along the lines of the Wabash system east of Toledo I have never seen a heavier movement of freight," said Master Mechanic J. E. O'Hearne of that system at Norwalk, O., who has been associated with the road for several years. "Business is good at every point and the through business is particularly heavy."

Similar expressions came from the officers of the Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Bessemer & Lake Erie roads. On all of the lines the traffic is being handled with dispatch, showing that the big improvements at terminals and lines have made for excellent advantage. The rolling stock is also in better condition because of the numerous rains giving purer water for use in the engines."

Knows Nothing of Merger or Purchase.

Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad, knows nothing of the reported plan of the Pennsylvania management to merger the Allegheny Valley Railway Company with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or of the report in circulation for some weeks that the Pennsylvania is interested with Vanderbilt system people in the purchase of the Little Kanawha syndicate's properties.

"What do you think of it?" replied Mr. Pitcairn, in reference to the latter report, smiling and thus saying without words that the idea of such a purchase was scouted. "I know absolutely nothing about what the Little Kanawha properties are, and know nothing about the Pennsylvania being interested in them.

"So far as the merger of the Valley with the Pennsylvania is concerned—why, we already own the Valley road. There is no step on foot that I know of for the merging of this road closer than it is. I do not see that it would be feasible."

These expressions coming from Mr. Pitcairn, who is a member of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania, together with denials of the merger proposition from Vice Presidents Pugh and Rea, ought to be sufficient to set at rest the matter of a consolidation of the Allegheny Valley, Northern Central, Philadelphia & Erie or Western New York & Pennsylvania roads with the Pennsylvania at any near future date.

Higher Grain and Packing Rates.

Higher rates on grain and grain products and on packing house products will become effective next month. At a meeting this week between the trunk, gulf and western roads in Chicago, which was attended by General Freight Agents J. P. Hill and L. R. Brockenbrough of the Pennsylvania lines, Baltimore & Ohio, respectively, of Pittsburgh, the rates were agreed upon, with differentials for the gulf lines against the eastern lines and for Baltimore and Philadelphia against New York. It is expected that no grain rate fight will come, as in past seasons, between the trunk and gulf lines. On September 1 the rate of 11½ cents on domestic grain and grain products and 15 cents on export grain will become effective to New York, while the rate of 15 cents per 100 pounds will become effective for export grain products to New York on September 20. This is the Chicago-New York basis of rates; on domestic shipments of grain and grain products, Philadelphia is to be given a differential of 2 cents and Baltimore 3 cents; on export grain Philadelphia will get a differential of 3 cents and Baltimore 1½ cents; on export grain products Philadelphia will have a differential of 1 cent and Baltimore 2 cents.

On September 7 the former rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds, Chicago to New York, will be restored for packing house products. The rate on dressed beef will not be changed. The products rate has been 20 cents for some time.

More Wabash Cars Coming.

In addition to the 1,000 gondola freight cars that have been received in the past couple of months by the Wabash lines east of Toledo, the system is yet to receive 1,000 more cars, delivery of which will begin within a short time. The latter cars are of the steel hopper type, and will be used in the ore and coal business principally. The report that there had been an order placed for 15 new freight engines with the Baldwin works recently for the Wabash lines east of Toledo was erroneous. The Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal line received 15 engines in the spring, and these give ample motive power for this season. The company will have 15 compound engines changed to the simple type at the Baldwin works; this is what led to the report that the Wabash is to receive 15 new engines from there.

Work is progressing rapidly on the rebuilding and extension of the Huron docks. These docks will be made large enough to serve the largest steamers of the lakes, and will be equipped with machinery to handle coal and ore that will be second to none at the lake ports. The company is also proceeding with the extension of sidetracks at numerous points.

Freedom Station to Be Opened.

The shippers of Freedom, Pa., on the Fort Wayne route will have a splendid freight station for their use, beginning next Monday. The new freight station, which has been built by W. E. Trimble & Sons of Allegheny at Thirteenth street, Freedom, will be opened to the public by C. D. Wagoner, freight and ticket agent of the Pennsylvania company there. The building is 55x20 feet in size. For some years the Pennsylvania company's freight facilities at Freedom have been limited, and the new building is a credit to the town. The passenger department will remain in the old location, pending the completion of the new passenger station at Ninth street.

Railroad Notes.

James Thompson, usher at the Union station, is at Atlantic City.

G. W. Cheeks, Pennsylvania night yard master at Fifteenth street, has returned from an eastern trip.

G. W. C. Day, division operator of the Baltimore & Ohio, is again on duty after a vacation visit in Somerset county.

D. T. McCabe, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines west, is taking his vacation with his family at Stony Lake, Can.

A. M. Schoyer, general superintendent of the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west, accompanied by his family, is taking a vacation trip to Duluth via the lakes.

Harvey C. Adair, Pennsylvania gang foreman at Twenty-eighth street, is making a vacation visit to his home at Columbus.

John Aldred, chief clerk to Superintendent S. C. Long of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Aldred, are enjoying a vacation sojourn at Buffalo.

Christ Otte, gang leader at the Union station terminal, is fishing in the vicinity of Mansfield, and will visit his former home at Butler. Al Zimmerly is relieving him here.

Louis Morrow of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie has returned with Mrs. Morrow to their home at New Brighton from a pleasant period of camp life with his mother at Red Brook on Lake Erie.

W. E. Conner, cashier of the Panhandle at Chicago, accompanied by his family, is paying a visit to the family of his brother, U. G. Conner, chief clerk to Freight Traffic Manager D. T. McCabe of the Pennsylvania lines west.

Train Master W. M. Wardrop and Division Operator F. J. Perry of the Erie & Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania lines, have returned to their headquarters at New Castle from a trip to Ashtabula Harbor to look over the company's interests there.

Among the out-of-town railroad men here yesterday were Assistant Chief Engineer A. C. Bellamy of the Pennsylvania of Philadelphia, and Chief Engineer Maintenance of Way J. B. Dickson and A. E. Hall of the transportation department of the Baltimore & Ohio, of Baltimore.
